WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The young women of Plymouth and vicinity wasted no time in taking the opportunity to become wives. Today Postmaster E. O. Williams, to whom 500 young men in the vicinity of Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., had appealed to find them wives, received many answers to the letter from James Evans which he had published yesterday. The girls tell of their household capabilities and ask that their letters be forwarded so that they may begin a correspondence with the eager young bachelors of the far west.

M'MULLIN TALKS ABOUT TRANSIT PLAN

Many New Surface Lines Will Feed the Elevated Roads.

QUICK WORK WISHED ON THE ORDINANCES

Trunk Roads Can Be Built Within Six Months After Rights Are Granted.

THE CITY DEMANDS RELIEF

The building of several elevated railroad lines in Pittsburgh, contemplated by the Pittsburgh Railways Company in the near future, will necessitate a number of additional surface lines being built in Allegheny. With the new "L" lines in Pittsburgh, other surface roads are projected.

When the building of the elevated roads begins it is the intention of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to take up the North Side problem and construct enough surface roads there to be adequate for the passenger traffic. Lines for which charters were granted some time ago will be completed. On many of them a start has been made and several pieces of track laid in order to keep the charters alive. These will all be finished.

It is altogether probable that a special meeting of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Railways Company will be called in a few days to consider the preparation of the ordinances which it is proposed to present to councils for franchises.

Rapid Work Is Desired.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company expects to have councils pass all the ordinances granting the franchises they desire before the close of the year. It is the company's desire to start active work on the new L roads by the first of the year, and a special effort will probably be made to have councils act as soon as possible on the ordinances.

Just what the estimated cost of the proposed trunk lines of elevated roads in Pittsburgh is the officers of the Pittsburgh Railways Company refuse to say. It is believed they know practically what the entire cost of the work will be, but none can be found who will make a statement as to the amount of money the company will expend.

M. K. McMullin, a director of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and one of the heaviest stockholders, said last night that the statement of President J. Dawson Callery, as published in The Gazette yesterday morning, is practically correct. In commenting further on the proposed erection of the L roads in Pittsburgh, he said:

"The new elevated railroads will be built as outlined by President Callery in The Gazette. We have no intention at the present time of applying for any more charters for either elevated or surface roads in Pittsburgh.

Quick Construction Possible.

"It is the idea of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to get at the work of constructing these new L roads as soon as possible. We must relieve this passenger congestion soon. The company will expend a great amount of money in building these new roads in order to do this, but with the steady growth of Pittsburgh and its suburban towns this money will come back in time.

"We figure that it will require about six months, possibly a little longer, to complete the L roads as outlined by President Callery. When the plans are all drawn and the contracts for the structural iron work let, it will not take long to get to work.

"The length of the projected roads will give plenty of work for a number of gangs of men and it will not take a great while to erect the new roads after the franchises have been granted. According to the charters the Pittsburgh Railways Company must secure the consent of councils to build the L roads in two years from the time the charters are granted. From that time we have five years in which to complete the work and it will not require anything like that time to do it.

"No elevated roads are contemplated for Allegheny at present. We can take care of the traffic on the North Side by surface lines, and not until the suburban towns grow to greater proportions will we build more L roads.

"The recommendations of the rapid transit committee are mostly practicable and at the next meeting of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Railways Company they will be thoroughly considered and acted upon."

Track Changes in Homestead.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company is contemplating an important change in the running of its cars through Homestead. It proposes to lay new tracks and has distributed the ties down McClure street and out Fifth avenue to connect with the tracks on Ann street. This scheme would shorten the running time through Homestead considerably, but would also abandon the western end of the borough, which is fast becoming the business center. The change would take the tracks off Amity street entirely, which move is regarded with misgivings by merchants of the street.

If the tracks are taken from Amity street it is likely that the Homestead and Mifflin street railway will extend its tracks down it as far as Second avenue. The proposed change of the Monongahela tracks would take them away from the Pennsylvania railroad station, where the cars are greatly delayed by shifting.

CONGREGATIONALISTS JOIN WITH HEBREWS

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 27.—An unusual service was held today in which the members of the First Congregational church joined Ohev Seducah congregation, the fashionable Jewish church of the city. POLICEMEN LINE UP FOR THEIR ANNUAL INSPECTION AND GET THEIR WINTER CLOTHING AFTER SOME SHIVERING.

INSPECTION DAY WAS WELCOME

Policemen at Last Permitted to Wear Their Heavy Clothing.

SHIVER NO LONGER

Clad in their winter uniforms and trappings, the "blue coats" of Pittsburgh assembled in Liberty street yesterday for their tenth annual inspection. Their appearance and the condition of their garments proved to be satisfactory to Director Leslie and Superintendent McAleese. The drill and inspection lasted one hour. After that the men marched to the Safety building, broke ranks and went to their police stations.

The patrolmen expressed thanks that the day for the annual inspection had come, as they had been compelled to wear their summer uniforms during the recent cold nights. Director Leslie did not wish them to soil the heavy uniforms until after the regular parade and inspection had been held. Within the last two weeks many policemen have suffered from the cold in their short coats, and they gave thanks yesterday for permission to wear their winter clothing.

The police made an attractive gathering when they formed for the parade in Cherry alley. There were 450 men in line. With their dark blue clothes, polished clubs and belts they made an impressive scene as they marched through the downtown streets behind the Second brigade band. The patrol wagons from the ten stations were also in line and followed in the rear of the "blue coats" in the parade.

It was 10 o'clock when the policemen assembled. They marched out Sixth avenue to Grant street, down Fifth avenue to Liberty, where they formed in line for the inspection and drill. Capt. J. A. A. Brown drilled the men for 35 minutes.

Director Leslie, Superintendent McAleese, Assistant Superintendent Wilson, with inspectors from the five districts, inspected the uniforms and fittings.

It was agreed that the wagon from No. 2 station had been cared for better than the others, but the horses from No. 7 were superior to the animals from the other stations.

After the officers had finished their inspections, the police marched along Fourth avenue, Wood street, Water street, Smithfield street and Sixth avenue to the Safety building. During this march the sidewalks were thronged with spectators. The members of councils had been invited to attend, but only a few were present. Recorder Brown was absent.

OCHILTREE'S CASKET COVERED BY FLOWERS

The Body Brought to New York and Arrangements Made for the Funeral.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.

Old friends, men well known in the business and social life of the city, visited the undertaking shop of Theodore E. Senior today to look their last upon the remains of Col. Thomas P. Ochiltree. Some took flowers, and before night the casket containing the remains of the well-known cosmopolitan were covered with wreaths and bouquets.

Accompanied by J. S. McDonald, the body was brought from the Hot Springs of Virginia early today. Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at the Church of the Paulist Fathers. A solemn requiem mass will be celebrated, and afterward the body, in a metallic casket, will be placed in the receiving vault of Greenwood cemetery.

This is to allow one of Col. Ochiltree's sisters, who is on her way from New Mexico, to see him. His other sister, his only other relative, is a nun and cannot come.

Col. Ochiltree, it is said, left little money, but a host of friends have come forward with offers of assistance.

QUAKER CITY MOVEMENT AGAINST COL. GUFFEY

Part of It Is to Put Up Heinle For Senatorial Honor Against Pattison

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.

An effort is being made by the Gordon-Kerr-Wanamaker faction of the Democracy to defeat Col. J. M. Guffey's plan of having ex-Gov. Pattison made the caucus nominee for United States senator. The fight is to be general.

Senator William C. Heinle of Center county has been selected to oppose Pattison for the honor. Another move in the anti-Guffey game is the boom to make Representative Louis M. Castner of Lycoming the caucus nominee for speaker of the house. The third stand against Guffey's control will be made when the Gordon people present the name of Representative Fred Ikeler of Columbia as their candidate for chairman of the house caucus.

Those in a position to know say the Heinle-Castner-Ikeler combination will not be able to turn the trick. Guffey recently remarked to a friend that, so far as the Gordon outfit is concerned, he did not require a guardian.

Senator Heinle was defeated for re-election on November 4 by Alexander Patten, Republican. He has a good record, from a Democratic standpoint, and has been given much assistance by Mr. Guffey. Mr. Ikeler was known as the "boy orator" of the house, as one always ready to talk, and he was utilized as a spectacular adjunct to Senator Flinn's fight against the Pittsburgh charter bill. Representative Castner is a protege of Senator Henry Cochran of Lycoming, who has always been jealous of Guffey.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

GOAT WAS GIVEN MILITARY FUNERAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—With all the parade and solemnity of a military funeral, followed to the grave by 150 crape-decked marines, the body of Fitz, the goat mascot of the marine barracks, was laid to rest in a quiet corner of the New York navy yard today. Fitz, because he was not sent with a detail of marines to Panama, committed suicide on Tuesday night by eating asbestos. It is thought he intended to end his life and make himself fireproof at the same time.

FATALLY INJURED IN FOOTBALL GAME

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 28.—Webster Yingling, captain of the Newcomerstown Athletic club, was probably fatally injured in a football game here yesterday with the Coshocton team. He is unconscious and is not expected to recover.

BROWNSTONE MANSION FOR WILLIAM A. STONE.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Joseph Huston, the architect of the new state capitol, is also preparing plans for the magnificent mansion which Gov. Stone is to occupy in Pittsburgh at the expiration of his term. Those in a position to make estimates say it will send to a far-back seat the Highland park residence of Senator Flinn. Brownstone effects have been decided upon, and bids will soon be asked.

The governor's residence will be on a plot of land fronting 300 feet in Beacon street, Squirrel hill, and 250 feet deep. This ground was bought 10 weeks ago from F. G. Kay and W. G. Stewart for $35,000. It is a high location, with a fine view.

"I AM RESTING," SAYS PRESIDENT C. M. SCHWAB

Hopes to Resume Duties Sooner Than Has Been Expected.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Charles M. Schwab and party left the Hotel Ritz tonight for Cannes, where they will rejoin the steam yacht Margarita. The journey was made in a special car which was attached to the "Train De Luxe" leaving Paris at 6 o'clock. I had a brief chat with Mr. Schwab this afternoon at the Ritz. He was looking as if his cruising had so far been very beneficial.

"I am resting," he said, in answer to a question whether his Mediterranean trip had been productive of good result.

That Mr. Schwab feels hopeful of being able to resume his duties as president of the United States Steel Corporation sooner than was expected some time ago I have good reason for believing. The Margarita will remain much of the time for the next few weeks in the vicinity of Cannes. It is generally understood that Mr. Schwab expects to remain in Europe for about six months.

AIMED AT VENEZUELA.

Three More Cruisers to Reinforce German Fleet Off Its Coast.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Three additional cruisers—the Niobe, Ariadne and Amazon—have been ordered to leave Kiel and proceed to Venezuela. It is expected that the three cruisers will be ready to sail about the middle of next week.

WHOLE TRIBE ARRESTED, FOUR HELD FOR MURDER

Starved Indians to Death in Effort to Exorcise Evil Spirits.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TACOMA, WASH., Nov. 27.—United States Commissary Folsom, Marshal Hepburn and Prosecuting Attorney Lions have returned to Juneau from Hoonah, where they held inquests over the remains of the starved Indians.

The redskins had been starved to death by their tribesmen because they were thought to be bewitched. One was tied to a tree and compelled to stand eight days and nights without food under heavy rains, the object of this treatment being to exorcise the evil spirits, of which he was thought to be possessed.

The federal officers placed the entire tribe under arrest during the investigation. Four members found directly responsible for the barbarities were taken to Juneau under charges of murder.

DR. LORENZ'S DAY OFF.

He Spends It as the Guest of the Parents of the Patient, Lolita Armour.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—A special from Chicago to the World says: Dr. Lorenz made this day a holiday. He ate his Thanksgiving dinner with J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Armour and his small patient, the heiress of $40,000,000, Lolita Armour. This evening the surgeon and Mr. Armour spent two hours driving with the little patient and Mrs. Armour. The child said:

"Oh, doctor, you must make me like other girls. I want to run and play. I want to make mamma and papa so they won't have to watch me."

"I will do it, my child," was his answer.

Ohio Commission Appointed.

Holden, Cleveland; Edward Jagenbach, Urbana; Newell G. Cannon, St. Clairsville; David Friedman, Caldwell; M. K. Gantz, Troy; David H. Moore, Athens. The commission is to erect a building and prepare exhibits.

Ingesias Reaches New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—Former President Don Rafael Iglesias arrived from Costa Rica today. He denies that his departure was secret, saying there is a law preventing any ex-president from leaving the country after one year without permission and this permission congress granted him.

Steel Combine Rumored.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—It was reported today that the Sharon-Union steel combine would absorb the Youngstown Iron, Sheet and Tube Company of Youngstown. An official of the Sharon Steel Company said the rumor was unfounded.

HOPE'S DOOR NOT CLOSED UPON NEGRO

Roosevelt Very Clearly Reveals His Policy to Southern Whites.

COLOR NO BAR TO PREFERMENT

Shows That the Principle Has Naught to Do With Black Domination.

REWARD OF CITIZENSHIP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The president has sent the following communication to a citizen of Charleston, S. C., dated yesterday:

My Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your letter of November 10, and of one from Mr. ———, under date of November 11, in reference to the appointment of Dr. Crum as collector of the port of Charleston. In your letter you make certain specific charges against Dr. Crum, tending to show his unfitness in several respects for the office sought. These charges are entitled to the utmost consideration from me and I shall go over them carefully before taking any action.

After making these charges you add, as a further reason for opposition to him, that he is a colored man, and after reciting the misdeeds that followed carpetbag rule and negro domination in South Carolina, you say that "We have sworn never again to submit to the rule of the African, and such an appointment as that of Dr. Crum to any such office forces us to protest unanimously against this insult to the white blood," and you add "Now you understand me to say that I would never force a negro on such a community as yours.

Concerned and Pained by Objection.

Mr. —— puts the objection ... first, saying: "First, he is a ... man, and that of itself ... from the office."

In view of these ... I think I ought to make ... to you why I am concerned and pained by your making them, and what my attitude is as regards all such appointments. How anyone could have gained the idea that I had said I would not appoint reputable and upright colored men to office when objection was made solely to them on account of their color, I confess I am wholly unable to understand.

At the time of my visit to Charleston last spring I had made, and since that time I have made, a number of such appointments from several states in which there is a considerable colored population. For example, I made one such appointment in Mississippi and another in Alabama, shortly before my visit to Charleston. I had at that time appointed two colored men as judicial magistrates in the District of Columbia. I have recently announced another such appointment for New Orleans and have just made one from Pennsylvania.

White Appointees in Majority.

The great majority of my appointments in every state have been of white men. North and south alike, it has been my sedulous endeavor to appoint only men of high character and good capacity, whether white or black; but it has been my consistent policy in every state where their numbers warranted it to recognize colored men of good repute and standing in making appointments to office. These appointments of colored men have in no state made more than a small proportion of the total number of appointments.

I am unable to see how I can legitimately be asked to make an exception for South Carolina. In South Carolina, to the four most important positions in the state, I have appointed three men and continued in office a fourth, all of them white men—three of them originally gold Democrats, two of them, as I am informed, the sons of confederate soldiers. I have been informed by the citizens of Charleston whom I have met that these four men represent a high grade of public service.

Will Not Shut the Door of Hope.

I do not intend to appoint any unfit man to office. So far as I legitimately can, I shall always endeavor to pay regard to the wishes and feelings of the people of each locality; but I cannot consent to take the position that the door of hope—the door of opportunity—is to be shut upon any man, no matter how worthy, purely upon the grounds of race or color. Such an attitude would, according to my convictions, be fundamentally wrong.

If, as you hold, the great bulk of the colored people are not yet fit in point of character and influence to hold such positions, it seems to me that it is worth while putting a premium upon the effort among them to achieve the character and standing which will fit them.

The question of "negro domination" does not enter into the matter at all. It might as well be asserted that when I was governor of New York I sought to bring about negro domination in that state because I appointed two colored men of good character and standing to responsible positions—one of them to a position paying a salary twice as large as that paid in the office now under consideration, one of them as a director of the Buffalo exposition.

The Question in a Nutshell.

The question raised by you and Mr. —— in the statements to which I refer, is simply whether it is to be declared that under no circumstances shall any man of color, no matter how upright and honest, no matter how good a citizen, no matter how fair in his dealings with all his fellows, be permitted to hold any office under our government. I certainly cannot assume such an attitude, and you must permit to say that in my view it is an attitude no man should assume, whether he looks at it from the standpoint of the true interest of the white man of the south or of the colored man

THOS. S. BIGELOW TO BE CHAIRMAN

Is to Direct the Work of the Citizens Party City Committee.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

The new city committee of the Citizens party will be organized some day next week. Thomas S. Bigelow will probably be elected chairman. It is understood that he is willing to accept the office.

Charles S. Crawford is chairman of the committee of 25 that passes out of existence with the organization of the new body. He will not seek a re-election. There is not likely to be any opposition to the selection of Mr. Bigelow.

Fifteen of the 38 wards have elected their representatives. The Twenty-second has chosen Dr. Cadwallader Evans. He is a member of the committee of 25. The remaining wards will hold meetings tonight and tomorrow evening. With the exception of the Thirty-second and Twelfth wards there is not much likelihood of friction.

The Democratic executive committee, of which George W. Guthrie is chairman, will meet this afternoon. There are 15 members of the body and both the fusion and anti-fusion factions of the party are represented. The gathering promises to be interesting, as the policy of the party in the coming recorder contest is to be discussed. A committee to consult with the Citizens may be named.

May Have Steering Committee.

In the county fight the Democratic county executive committee selected 10 Democrats to confer with the Citizens to nominate a ticket. This plan may not be followed this time. It is probable that a steering committee will be named, but the body will not have the same power given the conferees of last summer. The Democratic city convention will finally decide whether there be to be fusion.

E. J. Frauenheim is wrestling with the question of whether or not he will be a candidate for recorder on the Democratic ticket. His friends are waiting for him to say whether he intends to go after the straight Democratic nomination, try to secure the indorsement of the Citizens or quit the field entirely. They say that if he decides that he will make a fight for a Democratic nomination that nearly every Democratic association in the city will indorse him. So far as the Citizens nomination is concerned, there is slight chance of any Democrat securing it. It has been announced that a Republican is to be selected and that the Democrats will fall into line for him.

There is a report that the Democrats want to deal with the Citizens. The trading post is the shrievalty. According to the story, the Democrats are willing to relinquish all claim to the recordership nomination if they are assured that the fusion nominee for sheriff next fall will be a Democrat. It is a long time until next fall.

String to Douglas' Indorsement.

The indorsement given R. H. Douglas in his home ward, the Twenty-first, has a string to it. The following is the resolution adopted by the Citizens organization:

"Resolved, That the ward executive committee, representing the Citizens party of the Twenty-first ward, heartily indorse the candidacy of R. H. Douglas for the office of city recorder, and ask our representative on the committee of thirty-eight to be instructed to that effect. Provided, however, that Mr. Douglas declares himself a candidate on the Citizens ticket and will abide by the committee of thirty-eight and not use his independent nomination papers."

Mr. Douglas has said that he would abide by the Citizens party decision if it was reached in a fair manner; but if he considered the method unfair, he would be an independent candidate.

There will likely be a contest for the Twelfth ward seat in the Citizens city committee. Two meetings were held; one elected Thomas Gorman, a Democrat, and the other named A. W. Stewart, a Republican. Martin Hunt, secretary of the organization that elected Stewart, says that the meeting was the regular one. He thinks that Gorman will not be able to make a successful contest.

...ger Leaves for Washington.

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—Former Secretary of War R. A. Alger left for Washington tonight. He will be sworn in as United States senator when congress meets.

of the south, not to speak of any other section of the union.

It seems to me that it is a good thing, from every standpoint, to let the colored man know that if he shows in marked degree the qualities of good citizenship—the qualities which in a white man we feel are entitled to reward—then he will not be cut off from all hope of similar reward.

Without any regard as to what my decision may be on the merits of this particular applicant for this particular place, I feel that I ought to let you know clearly my attitude on the far broader question raised by you and Mr. ——, an attitude from which I have not varied during my term of office. Faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

SOME HOPE OF REWARD STIMULATES EFFORT

Booker T. Washington Says Colored Men Should Be Given Fair Chance to Rise.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Nov. 27.—The following letter has been received by the Age Herald from Booker T. Washington:

To the Editor of the Age Herald:

I notice that several newspapers have recently connected my name with political matters in such a manner as to show that my position is not understood. I desire, therefore, to make the following statement:

My life work is the promotion of the education of my race. It is well known that I have always advised my people that it is of supreme importance at this period of their development that they should concentrate their thought and energy on the securing of homes, the cultivation of habits of thrift, economy, skill, intelligence, high moral character, and the gaining of the respect and confidence of their neighbors, white and black, both in the south and north. From such teaching and council, no influence can ever divert me.

What conferences I have had with the president or with any public official have grown out of my position not as a politician, but as an educator. It should be borne in mind that there are about 9,000,000 negroes in the United States who are liable under the law for taxes and military service, and who are punishable for infraction of the law.

No Man in Nation's Councils.

These people at present have no member of their race in the national law-making body, and it is right that those charged with making and executing the laws of the land should at times seek information directly from the members of the negro race, when their interests and relations of the whites among them alive, are concerned.

Under no circumstances could I seek to promote political candidates or volunteer information regarding men or measures, nor have I done so in the past, but because of the importance I have always sought to place upon education and industry among my people as the basis for friendly relations between the races there may be occasions in the future as there have been in the past when, if I am so requested, I can give information about men and measures which would tend to promote such friendly relations between the races. Such information it is my duty to give when it is asked for.

At every proper opportunity I say to the youth of our people that they will make a mistake if they seek to succeed in life by mere political activity or the hope of holding political office. Now and then, however, public questions affecting our interests arise which are so fundamental and far-reaching that they transcend the domain of politics.

Stands for the Right.

When such questions present themselves, in justice to my race, I make my position known and stand for what I see to be the right.

We cannot elevate and make useful a race of people until there is held out to them the hope of reward for right living. Every revised constitution throughout the southern states has put a premium upon intelligence, ownership of property, thrift and character.

As an educator and not as a politician, I strive in every honorable and rational way to encourage the wise and enduring progress of my people; for if all inspiration and hope of reward is to be denied them, they will be deprived of one of the greatest incentives to intelligence, industry and righteousness. On the other hand, if they are encouraged in sensible and conservative directions, they will grow year by year into contentedness and added usefulness.

NO TARIFF REVISION THE NEXT TWO YEARS

...ther Will There Be Any ...ession—Trust Legis... Is Likely.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, ...TOMIS BUILDING, Postal Building. ...NGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.

There will be no tariff revision before the next presidential election. There will be no extra session of congress.

Leaders of the Republican party have conceded to the president legislation to better regulate trusts for the purpose of evading a reopening of the tariff question "in the time of the country's greatest prosperity."

Every member of congress who has seen the president this week has attempted to impress upon him the necessity of leaving the tariff alone for the present. He has listened to their views with interest, and following, he considers, a party mandate, will not go beyond a recommendation for a tariff revision.

He has found the entire east, as represented by United States senators, opposed to revision. These senators have either declared themselves to the president in person or their views are already known to him: Hale of Maine, Frye of Maine, Lodge of Massachusetts, Gallinger of New Hampshire, Proctor of Vermont, Platt of Connecticut, Platt and Depew of New York, Kean and Dryden of New Jersey, Quay and Penrose of Pennsylvania, Hanna and Foraker of Ohio, Scott and Elkins of West Virginia, Hansbrough of North Dakota, Allison and Dolliver of Iowa, Burrows and Alger of Michigan, Fairbanks and Beveridge of Indiana. Of these men, five are of the senate committee of finance, before which any tariff bill must go. They constitute a majority of the Republican members of that committee.

WEDS HER GRAND-UNCLE.

Sixteen-Year-Old Girl and Old Man Shock Nebraska.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The little town of Emerson, Neb., is excited over the marriage of Miss Callie Butler, aged 16, one of the young society girls of the place, to her grand-uncle, A. A. Palmer, aged 65, a respectable old widower and a brother of his bride's grandmother and an own uncle of her father, who has six children by his first wife living in Kansas.

It is recalled now that Mr. Palmer had been paying a good deal of attention to Miss Butler for some time before their marriage, but nothing was thought of it on account of their relationship and the great disparity in their ages.

A WALKOVER FOR PENROSE IN ASSEMBLY

Poll Discloses That No More Than Two Will Stay from Caucus.

NO NEW REVENUE LAW IS NEEDED

A Diversity of Opinion on Trusts, But Miners Will Win Recognition.

A HUNDRED-DAY SESSION

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 27.

Republican leaders have taken a poll of the Republican members of the next general assembly, sounding them on their choice for United States senator, as to how many will go into the senatorial caucus; views as to revenue-producing legislation and the attitude which will be taken on the question of trusts.

The canvass developed a large majority in senate and house which favors the re-election of Penrose; It also assured the leaders that not more than two members—possibly not two—will refuse to go into the senatorial caucus and abide by its decision.

The opinion prevails that it will not be necessary to introduce any new revenue bills, as the income now from present sources is constantly increasing. There is an unusually large balance in the state treasury and the finances of the commonwealth were never in a more satisfactory condition.

As to trusts there is a great diversity of opinion. It is certain that many measures affecting this subject will be introduced, but action on them cannot be anticipated at this time. In the mining districts, where the Republican members were given most subtantial majorities, the feeling is strong for some remedial legislation which will improve existing conditions.

It is also certain the miners will receive more recognition than was given them at the last session, and it is safe to assume that several of the bills which fell at the last session will be enacted into laws. Promises, it is said, were made to this effect and they are to be redeemed. The anthracite Republican majorities undoubtedly were due to an understanding of this kind.

It will be a 100-day session, the shortest for 15 years, if the Republican leaders control the situation, and of this there is no doubt.

Senator John C. Grady, "father of the senate," and John H. Reible, "father of the house," met today and agreed upon the program for organizing the legislature. Each branch will hold individual caucuses the first Tuesday in January. John M. Scott will be re-elected president pro tem of the senate. The house speakership is still an open question.

The joint senatorial caucus will be held Tuesday night, Senator Grady presiding. Penrose will be the caucus nominee.

On Wednesday the assembly will adjourn until the Monday preceding the third Tuesday of January. On Tuesday both branches will meet separately and elect a United States senator. As the Republicans have large majorities in each branch a joint ballot will not be taken, but both houses will meet in joint session the following day and approve the report of the tellers of senate and house.

Four years ago he began to indicate this purpose. Through his efforts a notorious resort was rehabilitated and the work of Hartley house, a rescue home and headquarters for home missionary work, was made more efficient.

MALCOLM FORD'S WIDOW WEDS.

Reminder of the Tragedy Which Snuffed Out Lives of Famous Brothers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—"Leavy-Ford"—On Wednesday, November 26, at rectory of St. Vincent de Paul, by the Rev. William St. Elmo Smith, Janet Graves Ford to Joseph Leavy."

Thus briefly was announced today the second marriage of the former wife of Malcom Webster Ford, a famous amateur athlete, who last May shot and killed himself after taking the life of his brother, Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist.

Long before the dual crime Malcolm Ford and his wife had ceased to live together, but after his death Mrs. Ford, in a womanly letter, spoke tenderly of the man to whom she had given her hand and pleaded for him that he was mentally irresponsible.

Janet Wilhelmina Graves, now Mrs. Joseph Leavy, was one of the four daughters of the late Robert Graves, a millionaire wall paper manufacturer of Brooklyn.

PLATT SUGGESTS A REMEDY.

If Holdup of Tunnel Franchise Continues Legislature Can Act.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—"The legislature of New York, in my opinion, will be compelled to act speedily to give New York city the Pennsylvania tunnel," said Senator T. C. Platt today when asked whether he could suggest a remedy for the aldermanic "holdup" of the tunnel franchise.

"If this aldermanic blockade in New York is not removed by the time the legislature meets, early in January, I think the legislature may properly take the question up, clip the wings of the aldermen and pass a law which will permit the Pennsylvania railroad to dig its tunnel and come into New York city."

BANK DIRECTOR ROUTS ROBBERS

Used Shotgun to Drive Three Thieves from Building.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DAYTON, PA., Nov. 27.—A bold attempt to rob the First National bank of Dayton, Armstrong county, was frustrated at 2 o'clock this morning by the bravery of Reid Marshall, one of the directors of the bank. The building is a new structure on the main street of the town. Almost directly across from it is the home of Mr. Marshall. It was due to this fortunate circumstance that the bank safe is still intact and that the three robbers carried away in their bodies buckshot from Mr. Marshall's gun.

About 2 o'clock Mrs. Marshall was awakened by a noise in the street, and quickly told her husband. Mr. Marshall ran to the front window of his bedroom and looking across the street saw three men at work on the bank's safe. The light in the building was burning brightly and there was no difficulty in seeing what was going on.

Mr. Marshall is a general merchant of the town and varies the duties of business with an occasional hunting expedition that has resulted in his becoming a crack shot. Incidentally a friend of his says he would rather at any time shoot a burglar than a squirrel. Picking up his double-barreled shotgun, after dressing himself, he left his house and walked across the street, the robbers not knowing of his coming, nobody being on guard. Walking up to the window of the bank he fired five charges at the robbers before they had a chance to return the fire. Rushing back to his house Mr. Marshall sought more cartridges to finish up the gang, but found his supply was exhausted. By this time neighbors who heard the shooting arrived at the bank, but the three men were gone, leaving blood stains on the floor, showing that the shots took effect. An attempt was made to trail them, but without success.

The front of the bank looks as if the building had borne the brunt of a fusillade, but Mr. Marshall concludes that it will cost less for a new pane of plate glass than it would to replenish the bank's cash supply and install a new safe.

CUBA ASKS A LITTLE MORE.

If Treaty Concedes 25 Per Cent Tariff Cut Palma Will Sign It.

HAVANA, Nov. ... (Copyright Cable.)—If the Cuban reciprocity treaty, as now proposed, concedes a 25 per cent reduction in tariff duties, there is a strong probability of its acceptance by President Palma and the Cuban senate. Secretary of State Saldo and Secretary of the Treasury Montes, the commission on the part of the Cuban government to negotiate the treaty, submitted five objections. Three of these are conceded by the United States. The fourth relates to Porto Rican coffee, and, it is thought, can be conceded by the United States without difficulty.

This leaves only the question of the amount of the reduction in the United States tariff. If the proposed 20 per cent is increased to 25 per cent President Palma likely will send the treaty to the senate for ratification.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Harry, the 14-year-old son of ex-Sheriff Clarence King was about to enter his father's home here when James Hines, another youth, who was standing in an alley, asked King if he would give him leave to shoot at him. The latter jestingly replied "Yes," when Hines fired, the ball striking King in the back of the head. He died 30 minutes later in his father's arms.

Hines said he had no idea that the gun was loaded.

CORONER PROBES ERNETT MURDER

Four Witnesses Heard on Killing of Jeannette Man.

SISTER GIVES CLUE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—Evidence was submitted this afternoon at the inquest to determine the murderer of Louis Ernett, who was found dead near the Capelle fan works in North Jeannette yesterday. The testimony of one witness was damaging to George Killen, the husband of Ernett's divorced wife.

Over three hours were devoted to an examination of four witnesses, but no verdict was given, the hearing having been continued until Saturday evening to allow District Attorney Cunningham an opportunity to subpoena witnesses, who, it is claimed, will testify that repeated threats were made against Ernett's life if he continued in his refusal to testify as directed in a trespass action scheduled for Monday in the common pleas court.

John Lang, a German, employed at the Capelle plant, was the most important witness. He stated that Killen had come into the plant after 7 o'clock on the morning of the murder, by a roundabout route which he had never been known to use.

Anna Ernett, sister of the murdered man, told in sentences broken by sobs the finding of the body. A clue that may prove valuable was given by her when she stated that she saw the fresh print of a woman's shoe in the mud a few feet from where her brother lay dead.

Constable A. E. Miller, who arrested Mr. and Mrs. Killen and her two brothers, Joseph and Thomas Roach, and Dr. J. B. Wakefield, who made the post-mortem examination, also testified. Killen, his wife and the two Roach boys have waived hearings.

The murder has excited the greatest interest about Jeannette, and at least 100 persons crowded into the office in which the inquest was held.

WHERE BEGGARS ARE RICH.

Dr. Hillis Shows in a Striking Way a Cause for Thanksgiving.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—"Why, the very beggars are getting rich!" said the Rev. Dr. Newel Dwight Hillis in his Thanksgiving sermon at Plymouth church this morning on "The Gains of the Republic," as he described the condition of the poor people in this country contrasted with those of England and Germany. Dr. Hillis told how he had been swindled by a man who, he afterward found out, made $5,000 a year swindling persons.

"When the beggars own bank stock and go around taking in poor and innocent preachers, then the country is in no danger of going to ruin for lack of prosperity," he said.

ARSON AND MURDER IN INSURANCE FRAUD

A Detective Tells How He Trapped the Plotters. Prisoner Collapses.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EL PASO, TEX., Nov. 27.—The application for a writ of habeas corpus by C. T. Richardson and William Mason, alleged insurance swindlers, resulted today in the introduction by the state of testimony which gave in detail the story of the plot to defraud the New York Life Insurance Company out of hundreds of thousands, and possibly accomplish this by arson and murder.

Detective "Gray," who entrapped the plotters, told the story of his connection with the case from the time he was engaged by the company and sent to Dallas until he and Mason and Richardson were arrested in the streets of El Paso. "Gray" admitted his name to be W. J. Garrison, and gave his residence as Richmond Hills, L. I.,

D. Curtis Gano, an attorney of Rochester, N. Y., testified that he knew Richardson in Rochester where he (Richardson) was a practicing lawyer under the name of Leslie E. Huribert. Mason was then a clerk in Richardson's office and was known as William Mitchell. Mrs. Richardson was Mason's sister, and the man, Mitchell, who died mysteriously at Chihuahua, for whose life a policy was collected, was Mason's brother. Mr. Gano's testimony was brief and he was not cross-examined.

Richardson wilted and his face grew pale when he was confronted by his old associate of New York. Mason is still ill a state of collapse and unable to attend court.

THE SAMOAN DILEMMA.

Uncle Sam Must Present to King Oscar Claims Against Himself Which He Had Denied.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The state department is preparing to present to King Oscar, arbitrator of the issues between the United tSates and England on the one side and Germany on the other, growing out of the Samoan troubles of 1899, the second phase of the case, and finds itself in a peculiar position.

The recent decision of King Oscar touched only the principle involved, namely the liability of the United States and Great Britain for damages sustained by foreigners as a result of the joint naval operations. That having been decided against the United States and Great Britain and in favor of Germany, the next step in order is to prepare and submit to the arbitrator detailed statements of the individual losses.

By the terms of the arbitration treaty, each of the countries concerned undertook to look after the claims of its own citizens. Thus it happens, in the case of the United States that the government must present to the arbitrator for payment the claims of a number of American citizens after, through elaborate argument, it had presented to the arbitrator by special counsel specifically denied liability for any such claims.

SAVED BY GIRL'S COOLNESS

Only One Brave Enough to Save Man Who Grasped a Lever Charged With Electricity.

HARRISON, N. J., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Henry Trothhead, foreman of the treating department of the General electric works, is in a serious condition from the effects of a severe electric shock he received today.

While Trothhead was adjusting some machinery he grasped a lever and a current of 650 volts passed through his body. He could not let go, and his screams for help created a panic among 75 girls at work in the room.

Trothhead owes his life to Miss Anna Gebhardt. Retaining her presence of mind, she ran to another lever, shut off the current and released the man from his position. He dropped to the floor unconscious, and it took a physician an hour to restore him.

Dampness is said to have caused the accident by making an electric conductor of the lever.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—At the second day of the Hartopp divorce trial Lady Hartopp was again attired in black, but wore a large green hat in place of the black toque she wore yesterday. Earl Cowley, the co-respondent, sat some distance from her.

Sir Charles Hartopp's financial affairs were gone into. It was shown that Lady

LADY MILLICENT HARTOPP.

Hartopp bet on races and played cards quite independently of her husband. She paid her losses out of her own income.

Several servants of Lady Hartopp testified to Earl Cowley being a daily visitor at Lady Hartopp's cottage. He would frequently spend the greater part of the day with her, leaving about 11 o'clock at night. Lady Hartopp would go to Earl Cowley's house, remain there for lunch, tea and dinner, having her evening clothes sent over and changing there, returning to her own place late at night.

A former housemaid of Lady Hartopp's, Alice Blythe, testified that she once took a telegram to her ladyship's boudoir and found the door locked. The door into the boudoir from the kitchen stairs was often locked when Earl Cowley and Lady Hartopp were in the boudoir.

Other servants gave similar evidence, that Earl Cowley spent a great deal of time in Lady Hartopp's boudoir.

AUGUST BELMONT'S NEW FIELD OF ENTERPRISE

It Will Probably Be Supplied by the Manhattan-Inter-Borough Deal.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Nov. 27.

Financiers interested in the lease of the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company by the Inter-Borough Rapid Transit Company said today the news of this week would soon be followed by at least two important announcements concerning the future of August Belmont and George J. Gould and his friends.

Some months ago Mr. Gould induced some of his friends, including John D. Rockefeller and his son, to purchase large blocks of Manhattan stock. Mr. Gould also increased his own holdings. Something like a pool was formed and sufficient of the floating stock absorbed to make the Rockefeller contingent a power in the corporation's affairs.

There is a probability of the incorporation of a company which will favor both the Manhattan and the Inter-Borough and be managed by the leading financiers of both. In that case August Belmont will be elected president of the managing company, and probably of Manhattan also.

Mr. Belmont's friends say he has entered the local long haul rapid transit field in earnest and intends to devote his future energies to the business. He is, they say, an energetic man, and his loss of the control of the Louisville & Nashville left him free to embark in new enterprises.

CRAZED LOVER'S BREAK.

After Twice Shooting His Sweetheart He Leaps Through Seventh Story Window and Dies.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—"Come with me now, Julia, or die."

This was the command of Max Aukowatsky to Mrs. Julia Anotisak as they stood in the woman's apartments at 7 o'clock tonight.

Without speaking, the woman drew away from him and shook her head defiantly. Aukowatsky drew a revolver and fired, and the woman screamed and fell to the floor. Her assailant throught she was dead, and with a cry of desperation, ran to the front part of the flat and leaped through a window, falling seven stories to the pavement. He was killed.

Both were Bohemians and married. Aukowatsky was 32 years old and the woman 24. She had separated from her husband, who is still in New York, and Aukowatsky's wife is in Austria. For several months he had annoyed the woman. She lived alone with her sister, and several times they had complained to the police that the man had threatened Mrs. Anotisak's life if she would not go away with him.

Neither shot was fatal. One pierced the woman's left arm and the other wounded her slightly in the left shoulder.

FOOTBALL GAME MAY CAUSE DEATH

Charles Mercer Seriously Injured in Gridiron Struggle at Sewickley.

CONDITION IS CRITICAL

Two Badly Hurt at Charleroi. Riot Starts at Game in Wilkinsburg and Police Have to Clear the Park.

One fatality may result from the number of football games played in and around Pittsburgh yesterday. Charles Mercer, 18 years old, was badly injured at Sewickley yesterday afternoon in a game between Sewickley High school and the Sterling Athletic club of Wilkinsburg, and it is extremely doubtful if he recovers.

Young Mercer was brought to Pittsburgh about 9 o'clock last night and taken to the West Penn hospital, where it was stated at midnight his condition was very grave. He was unconscious at that hour and the staff physicians had very little hope for his recovery.

Mercer was the star player of the Wilkinsburg team. The two elevens have been rivals for years, and much interest was always attached to their contests. Mercer's home is at No. 105 Washington street, South Side, but he formerly lived in Wilkinsburg and has been a member of the Sterling Athletic club for some time.

Injured in Scrimmage.

The accident happened in the latter part of the second half. With but five minutes left to play, young Mercer took the ball when a signal was given for a line play. The scrimmage was fierce, and when the referee blew his whistle Mercer lay on the ground unconscious. On examination it was found he had been kicked in the head in the fray.

He was carried by the other members of his team to a stable near the gridiron, and a physician was called to attend him. The boy remained in an unconscious state and the doctor advised that he be taken to a hospital as soon as possible.

Two other serious injuries were reported yesterday at Charleroi, Pa., in the game between Monessen and Charleroi, when Pegg, left end of the Charleroi eleven, was compelled to quit the game on account of a dislocated knee. John Bentz, the fullback of the Charleroi team, also suffered a broken rib.

Riot in Wilkinsburg.

On account of a small-sized riot at a game in Wilkinsburg yesterday afternoon, between the Brushton Mohawks and the Lowells of East Liberty, Burgess James Horner stated last night that he would issue no more permits for football contests in the borough.

The trouble occurred at D. C. and A. C. park. Some of the players on the Brushton team started a row over a decision which they claimed was made against them, and the spectators took sides with the players.

Chief of Police Floyd Ross came upon the scene, and when he attempted to settle the disturbance, was set upon by the crowd. Later, in the second half of the game, another argument took place, which grew into a free-for-all fight, and with the assistance of the other members of the force the chief of police broke up the game and cleared the park.

ALLEGED BURGLARS CAPTURED.

Said to Have Stolen $400 Worth of Goods.

Detectives Edward Barry and Frank Mulholland arrested William Hogan and Albert Hinton last night and locked them up in Central police station on charges of having entered the warerooms of the Kreiger Manufacturing Company at No. 615 Fifth avenue early yesterday morning and taking about $400 worth of clothing.

The detectives are also looking for Edward Anderson of Shores alley, who they alleged was connected with the robbery. The men will be arraigned for a hearing this morning before Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna.

It Is Bryan's Mound.

A New York firm that deals in curios has made an offer for the Indian relics in the old mound at McKees Rocks. Although the offer is a good one Frank Bryan, the owner of the property, says that he is going to open the mound himself. A force of men will be put to work in a few days to build a high fence around the mound. Watchmen will be on guard day and night and the public will be excluded while the work is going on.

THE WEATHER.

The weather bureau at Washington is persistent in its forecasts for snow, as more snow flurries are promised for this vicinity. The snow that was to make yesterday a Thanksgiving Day of old-time appearance did not materialize, except the occasional disgusting fails that with the keen temperature made ideal football weather. Yesterday was as pleasant a Thanksgiving Day as has been enjoyed in Pittsburgh for years. The maximum temperature yesterday at midnight was 45, and the minimum at 8 p. m., was 34. Since yesterday morning the thermometer has fallen steadily.

The Gazette weather service thermometers at Kaufmann's corner registered:

NATION'S GROWTH BY GOD'S GRACE

Rev. J. T. McCrory on the Causes of America's Great Prosperity.

SIGNS OF DIVINE FAVOR

Union Thanksgiving Services in Third United Presbyterian Church—Other Joint Meetings in the Churches of Pittsburgh.

A union Thanksgiving service was held in the Third United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, yesterday morning in which the Grant Street Reformed Presbyterian, the Fifth Avenue, the Wylie Avenue and the Fourth Avenue Baptist congregations joined. Prof. George Sleeth read President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving proclamation and an elaborate muscial program was rendered.

The Rev. J. S. Stratton, the Rev. T. E. Jepson and the Rev. William H. McElveen made addresses and the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third church. He preached on "What Exalts a Nation" and took his text from Proverbs xiv:34, "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." Mr. McCrory said in part:

"This is an exalted nation. We are accustomed to say, and I think with entire justification, that this great American republic is the most highly favored nation on the face of the earth. Let us, with humbled but grateful hearts, consider the points of national exaltation. Growth is an evidence of the divine favor. Who could have believed that the little handful of less than 100 persons who observed the first Thanksgiving on this continent in 1621, yonder on the bleak shores of the Atlantic, would, in eight generations, have increased to almost 80,000,000 of souls. And territory has kept pace with population.

"From a landing place at Plymouth our domain has stretched to the Pacific and more than one-fourth of the cultivated lands of the world are under our flag. The development of our resources has kept pace with both and now 25 per cent of the wheat, 30 per cent of the lead, 31 per cent of the gold, 33 per cent of the silver, 40 per cent of the iron, 50 per cent of the steel, 55 per cent of the copper and 75 per cent of the corn produced on the globe tells the story of the growth of our resources. Surely God has exalted us by way of growth.

"With slight exceptions our territorial acquisitions have been honestly secured, our growth in population has been a response to the beckoning hand of liberty and brotherhood; the development of our resources has been by means of industry, energy and intelligence, fostered by our Christian institutions, our churches, our Lord's day rest, our schools. We have dealt fairly with the other nations of the earth and generally with some of our weaker neighbors, especially with Cuba. May we never forget the reason for national exaltation and continue to live in the fear of God."

THEY SPOKE IN TONGUES.

Cosmopolitan and Polyglot Service Held in the Second Presbyterian Church.

Thanksgiving services were conducted yesterday in the Second Presbyterian church by the Rev. S. Edward Young before what was perhaps the most cosmopolitan congregation ever assembled in a Pittsburgh church. The Rev. Mr. Young's sermon was brief and was confined entirely to a narrative of the opportunities presented to the foreigner in America.

The musical program consisted of songs sung in the native tongue by representatives of many nations. The national hymns of Italy, Germany, Austria, Poland, Russia and several other countries were sung. The church had been decorated with American flags, products of the harvest fields, and wild flowers. A large collection was taken, to be distributed among the poor of the city. One-third of the amount was given to Prof. Rosa, the Slavish missionary of this city.

HOME AND NATION.

Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts Preaches on the Mutual Relations of the Two Institutions.

At the Shadyside Presbyterian church yesterday morning the Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the international reform bureau of Washington, D. C., preached the Thanksgiving sermon. His subject was "Our Homes and Our Country." Mr. Crafts said, in part:

"Thanksgiving Day, originated as a day of praise for the harvest and other material benefits, has come to be yet more a festival of thankfulness for those more golden sheaves that are wrapped in the words 'our homes and our country,' the consideration of whose duties to each other will afford grounds for thankfulness and for watchfulness as well, that these occasions for gratitude may not be diminished but increased.

"What duties do our Christian homes owe to our country, and what duties does our Christian nation owe to our homes? The home is a school of love to prepare citizens to live in mutual love and helpfulness in the larger fellowships of human society.

"There is profound cause of gratitude in the fact that Christian homes, despite all the sins against love that we recall today with regret, are better schools of love than any others the world has known. Indeed, the very word home has come to us from the same Puritan source as Thanksgiving itself. A home is vastly more than a house, vastly more than the 'familia' of classic Rome, that gives us the word family, for the average Roman 'familia' was in physical comforts no better than a stable, and the women and children were as much under the husband's control as his cattle, with no anti-cruelty society to afford the protection they often needed. That home will turn out the best citizens that follow God's law of combined egoism and altruism."

In the Wilkinsburg Churches.

The union Thanksgiving services in Wilkinsburg were unusually interesting and attracted large congregations. The Rev. Dr. Silveus of the Cumberland Presbyterian church preached at the Calvary Lutheran church in Center street, while the people of West Wilkinsburg heard the Rev. Paul S. Leinbach, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, at the East End Presbyterian church, in East End avenue, Pittsburgh. The musical programs were of extraordinary interest and the churches were magnificently decorated.

HIS THANKSGIVING COOKING WAS FATAL

South Side Man Poured Oil On the Fire and Was Burned To Death.

While preparing his Thanksgiving dinner, Edward Brosnehan, a bachelor, aged 44, was burned at his home at No. 74 Norton street, South Side, yesterday, and died last night at the South Side hospital of his injuries. He poured some kerosene on the fire and the can exploded. The blazing oil showered on him.

When the oil set fire to his clothing he ran into the street and called for help. Joseph Steiner heard his cries and threw water on his burning garments. He was unable to extinguish the flames, however, until the man had been fatally burned. He was taken to the hospital, where he died. Brosnehan was employed in Jones & Laughlin's as a laborer. He was single.

John Meron 25 years old of Natrona was caught in the machinery of the Pennsylvania Salt works yesterday and killed.

Bernard Kearns of East Pittsburgh was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday morning. He was 35 years old and married.

Annie Helms, 46 years old, of No. 5404 Gertrude street, died at her home yesterday morning of heart trouble.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew Services.

The annual corporate communion of the Pittsburgh assembly Brotherhood of St. Andrew, will be held in Trinity church, Sixth avenue, next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. The anniversary sermon to the brotherhood will be delivered by the Very Rev. Dr. George Hodges, dean of Cambridge Theological seminary and former rector of Calvary church. The sermon will be preached in Calvary church, corner of Penn avenue and Stanton street, Tuesday evening, December 2, at 8 o'clock.

McKees Rocks Needs Another Bridge

The business men of McKees Rocks have taken up the movement to have a bridge over Chartiers creek at Furnace street, to connect with Sheraden. David K. McGunnigle has offered the necessary ground on the east side of the creek for an approach and it is likely that the county commissioners will be asked to build the bridge at once.

DO YOU LIKE TO LOOK AT CHRISTMAS THINGS?

Campbell Invites You to an All-Day "Inspection" Tomorrow.

They've been working nights lately at Campbell's. Tables have been cleared, stocks contracted, counters moved, shelving shifted and every possible room-making expedient adopted to find the 17,500 square feet of floor space required for the typical Christmas goods. For a week now the toys, games, books, dolls, china, bric-a-brac, toilet silver, fine leather goods, jewelry, garments de luxe, gloves, umbrellas, handkerchiefs and other articles, such as are found in greatest profusion among the fruit that grows on the Christmas trees, have been coming down from the stock room in an endless procession, and tomorrow all things will be in readiness for the public eye at "The People's Store."

Sightseeing, not buying will be the order of the day. At this stage of the Christmas trade shrewd merchandising far more anxious to show their goods than to sell them—knowing full well that if good impressions are made by the brilliancy of the displays the subsequent selling will be an easy matter.

CONTRACTORS DO NOT OBEY ORDERS

Work Is Being Rushed On the New Municipal Hospital.

DIRECTOR IS INACTIVE

Leslie Makes No Effort to Enforce Orders of Councils--Smallpox Patients Overflow Hospital. Desperate Measures Suggested.

The contractors on the new municipal hospital have not suspended work, although councils directed Director A. H. Leslie at the meeting Monday to order them to do so. The resolution, instructing the director to stop work on the new hospital, was passed by a unanimous vote of both branches over Recorder J. O. Brown's veto, and on Wednesday Director Leslie sent Kerr & Fox, the contractors, a formal notification of the resolution.

He did not, however, obey the order of councils to stop the work, but informed the contractors that they could exercise their pleasure in the matter. This was all the attention that the director gave to the positive instructions of councils. He has not inquired since whether the contractors have stopped or are still going ahead.

John Cashmore, superintendent of the municipal hospital, stated last night that work on the new hospital had not been suspended, although the working force since Monday had been reduced temporarily, on account of the delay in getting stone for the foundation. He said the excavation for the foundation had been completed and that the contractors were ready to commence on the stone work.

Contractors Going Ahead.

The contractors, to all appearances, intend to keep on and push the work to completion as speedily as possible. Supt. Cashmore said last night that the present hospital is full to overflowing with smallpox patients and that new cases are being received every day. He said there is no room for any more, and that additional cases will have to be quartered in the anti-toxine stable on the municipal hospital grounds. The superintendent stated that about 35 or 40 patients could be placed in the anti-toxine stable, which is being put in shape for the reception of smallpox cases.

After the stable is filled quarters outside of the hospital grounds will have to be provided, so Director Leslie declared last night. He said there are only two ways that smallpox patients can be cared for outside of the municipal hospital.

Only Two Plans Open.

One is to use the new police station, at Dinwiddie street and Center avenue, as a temporary hospital, and the other plan is to quarantine the patients in their own homes.

He said the new police station at Dinwiddie and Center avenue will be completed and ready for occupancy by December 10, and that about 75 patients can be quartered in the building. When asked if it would not be dangerous to establish 75 smallpox patients in a populated district he replied:

"Of course, there would be some danger, but it would be the same thing, practically, as quarantining patients in their own homes. We may be able to take care of all the patients for the next two weeks, without using the police station or quarantining them in their homes, but the epidemic is becoming more serious than ever and the new cases are coming in pretty fast. We had 33 cases in the first 15 days of the present month, and since November 15 it has been even worse."

Five deaths occurred at the municipal hospital yesterday, four of which were due to smallpox and one to pneumonia.

George Tinsley died of pneumonia contracted on the day he would have been released from the hospital. He was taken to the hospital 39 days ago from No. 2450 Wadsworth street.

The other deaths are as follows: David Thomas, 1 year old, of No. 321 Taylor street; Albert Kountz, 39 years old, of Bedford avenue; Louis Reed, 52 years old, of No. 2116 Bedford avenue; Mrs. Elvira Wilson, 65 years old, of No. 406 Kirkpatrick street. But one new case was reported yesterday, that of F. M. Hammer, 31 years old, of the rear of No. 2517 Wylie avenue.

Good Place for a Fight.

Detectives Frank Mulholland and Edward Barry arrested James Quinn and Albert Coulson in Sixth avenue yesterday afternoon, on charges of disorderly conduct. The men were fighting. Coulson claimed that Quinn sold him a watch in a Wylie avenue saloon. After he paid the money over to Quinn he discovered that the watch was worthless. Quinn had left the saloon and Coulson hurried after him. He chased Quinn and caught him in front of the Safety building. Quinn refused to return the money and Coulson knocked him down.

PUBLIC DUTIES OF THE CITIZENS

Political Responsibility the Subject of Rev. H. D. Lindsay's Sermon.

BETTER DAY DAWNING

He Congratulates the People of the Two Cities on the Outlook for Purer Municipal Management.

"The Good Citizen" was the subject of the Rev. Henry D. Lindsay's Thanksgiving Day sermon at the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny, yesterday morning. He took his text from Psalms 1:14: "Offer unto God thanksgiving." Among other things, Mr. Lindsay said:

"This day belongs of right to the Christian and to the citizen—above all, to the Christian patriot. Established not by Divine decree, but by the proclamation of the president and the desire of the people, the spontaneity of its praise and thanksgiving. "A holy merrymaking," we may well believe, is peculiarly pleasing to our God. The Christian patriot gives truest thanks, as he recognizes God's great goodness to him in that he was born an American, and meditates upon the opportunities and obligations which crowd in upon him because of this great blessing. He sees the hand of God in all the history we have made in our advance to this day.

"It was not an accident, but of Divine purpose, that this land, so dear to us, was not settled by Spain, as at one time seemed probable; nor did the lilies of France float over its wide areas, as at another time seemed almost certain. Pittsburgh is not Duquesne today, God be thanked for it.

"The Christian patriot realizes that back of all the authority of law, all the power of the civic government, is God, from whom all human power comes. So public office is more than a public trust; it is a Divine trust. He who holds office is as the representative of God. This is true even of the policeman on his beat; and he is responsible to God as well as to the people for the way he does his duty. Conscience should have first place in politics, and to sell for a piece the faith of the people and their welfare is as when Judas sold his master for 30 pieces of silver. As ours is a government by the people, we are all men of authority. We should be just as honest in making out tax returns as we are in paying a personal note which bears the indorsement of a friend. God demands it of us.

"We should see to it that we vote intelligently and for good men, because we are responsible for the bad acts of the bad man we elect to office, and we are responsible for the bad acts of bad men who were elected because we did not vote against them.

"Shining as a star among the blessings for which we of Pittsburgh and Allegheny should give thanks today is the bright promise which has recently come to us of clean and strong municipal government on both sides of the river. It is the morning star and presages the dawning of a glorious day. To God we give the praise."

A DAY OF FEASTING.

Enjoyment of the Good Things of This World is Approved by Rev. Mr. Conner.

The congregations of the Perrysville avenue Methodist Episcopal, the Wilson avenue Christian and the St. Luke's Lutheran churches, assembled in the Eighth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, yesterday morning, where a union Thanksgiving service was held. The Rev. W. F. Conner, pastor of the Perrysville avenue Methodist Episcopal church, preached a sermon on "Feast—not Fast Day, a Plea for Optimism." His text was taken from Nehemiah viii:9: "Mourn not nor weep—go your way, eat the fat and drink the sweet and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared—neither be ye sorry." Mr. Conner said in part:

"This is a feast day, not a day for lamentations, but for rejoicing. Not a season for Jeremiads, but for hallelujahs. Mrs. Browning describes a morose, melancholy saint, who 'thanked God and sighed.' Some saints do have that habit. Their gratitude is likely to take the form of a groan. Their song of rejoicing is always set to a minor key. To turn a national Thanksgiving Day into a day of mourning is bad taste and specially bad for the digestion.

"If the first course of your Thanksgiving dinner is to be served in church in the form of a section from the book of Lamentations, you may expect your turkey and mince pie to give you a headache and bad taste in the mouth. There are excellent hygienic reasons why one should fast and not feast, if he has listened to sorrowful plaints about the nation's perils and sins.

"The cheapest kind of notoriety is that gained by abusing public officials and deploring public sins. To use a Thanksgiving service to mouth our wailings over the nation's sins is the last refuge, not of scoundrels, but of those who have either a poverty of ideas or a lack of appreciation of the purpose of the day.

"But, says our chronic croaker, have you forgotten how trusts and strikes and divorce and Sabbath breaking and intemperance and imperialism are threatening the nation's life? No, I have not forgotten that such dire calamity is sometimes prophesied; but it is not a feast day topic. Opportune times for such themes are not wanting, but today, at least, let us pull out the trumpet stop and with full organ and great choir sing the hallelujah chorus of the nation. All hail this day to the cheerful man, the optimistic brother who sings his Te Deum Laudamus instead of a Miserere."

SUBURBAN SERVICES.

Large Attendance in the Churches of Braddock, Turtle Creek and Duquesne.

The Thanksgiving services held yesterday in the First English Lutheran church, Braddock, under the auspices of the Braddock Ministerial association, were attended by a larger congregation than for a half-dozen years. There was a large offering for the needy of the town.

The Rev. William J. Bucher, pastor of the church, was selected by the Ministerial association of 30 members to deliver the sermon. The subject was "The Question Before the Church." The Rev. Bucher said it was how to reach the masses and hold them in the power of the church, against the forces that are working for materialism and other forms of infidelity. The Rev. Bucher spoke at length on the unparalleled prosperity that this country has enjoyed, especially during the last year, and said that it was due to the providence of God, and in a measure to our wise and efficient rulers. He said it was the duty of the church to uphold a just and righteous government, that, as President Roosevelt believes, should be "each for all and all for each."

At Turtle Creek union Thanksgiving services were held in the evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church by the Rev. Robert J. Bamber, pastor of the First Christian church.

The ministers at the Duquesne churches held a union Thanksgiving service in the First Methodist Episcopal church at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the sermon being delivered by the Rev. Will Ira Guss of the First English Lutheran church of that place.

Union Thanksgiving services were held last evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church at East McKeesport by the Rev. William Houston of the United Presbyterian church and the Rev. A. C. Elliott of the Methodist Episcopal church.

At Wilmerding the services were held in the morning at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church and the sermon was preached by the Rev. William G. Stewart of the First Presbyterian church of that place.

DUQUESNE TRUST COMPANY.

Organization Is Completed, With the Stock Oversubscribed.

The Duquesne Title & Trust Company has distanced two competitors in the effort to acquire the town as a site for the operations of a trust company. The Mercantile Trust Company a short time ago projected the Duquesne Savings and Trust Company, with a capital of $150,000, and took out a charter, but stopped there. The Duquesne Library Land Company, which organized recently, began to look forward to the formation of a trust company.

In the meantime a number of leading men of Duquesne took the matter up and have boomed it so energetically that they have more than enough stock subscribed. A charter will be applied for at once by James S. Crawford, Charles B. Payne, M. G. Conlin, Dr. L. H. Bodkin and Dr. C. F. Keyser. Quarters will be engaged in the room adjoining the First National bank.

THE MINISTER'S COFFEE.

Hurt Him Worse Than the Devil Did.

"I used the old-fashioned coffee from my babyhood, and like many others, thought I could not live without it. Was in the army four years during the rebellion and came out very much broken in health. I was compelled to quit the active work of the ministry for more than a year at a time, suffering terribly from stomach and intestinal troubles and torpid liver, with the consequent nervous headache and prostration, lumbago and rheumatism.

"Four years ago, being confined to bed with these troubles and ulceration of the liver, my physician positively forbade the use of coffee and brought me some Postum Cereal Food Coffee. Since that time, myself and family have used no other coffee. All my intestinal trouble has been greatly relieved, and I no longer suffer from rheumatism and very little from torpid liver or biliousness.

"I am fully convinced that coffee is very largely responsible for the greater part of all stomach, intestinal and liver troubles from which people suffer. I am now 58 years old, and my health has been so much improved that I do as much work as I ever did, and with about as much comfort. I can conscientiously attribute it chiefly to the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee. There are several friends who have had valuable experience with the leaving off of coffee and the use of Postum Food Coffee. It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to help humanity to understand that the very general cause of sickness is, I consider, largely attributable to mistakes in the use of food and drink." Rev. J. A. Flickinger, Pastor of the Lutheran Church, Ray's Hill, Pa. Grocers sell Postum Coffee, and Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., make it at Battle Creek, Mich.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

The report of the rapid transit commission dealt simply with the means by which the existing congestion in the downtown district can be relieved. The question of terms did not come within its province, but as the proposed measures of relief involve increasing use of streets now occupied and the use of additional streets, that question comes up at once as soon as application for the additional franchises is made to councils.

It is to be assumed that the Pittsburgh Railways Company will offer compensation for the franchises it will ask, following in this respect the example of the elevated railways some time ago. This set a new precedent for Pittsburgh, although an old one everywhere else. The time has passed when it could be a question whether or not the company should pay anything for the use of city property and the only questions now are the amount of the compensation and the manner in which it shall be determined. Upon these points the experience of other communities will be helpful in aiding the public judgment.

A method of payment in extensive use in Europe is a license charge based upon mileage. This is illustrated by recent franchise negotiations in Shanghai, China. A street railway company there has offered to pay 150 pounds sterling per year per mile of double track and 100 pounds per mile of single track for a franchise limited to 21 years. Cars seating six first class passengers and forty second class passengers are to be used, with rate of fare respectively six cents and two and one-half cents. These peculiar provisions indicate the widely varying classes of traffic to which the company must look for support and indicate further that its business will be of a more uncertain character than a street railway in this country may count upon, but all such franchises are so valuable that the company could afford to pay well for a limited grant.

Payments based upon mileage are the rule in a number of European cities. In Dublin the street railways pay a little more than $1,000 a mile of trackage. The general rule is, however, a percentage of receipts. Amsterdam receives 5 per cent of the gross receipts, plus one-half any surplus after a 12 per cent dividend. Berlin receives 8 per cent of the gross receipts and one-half the surplus after a 12 per cent dividend. French cities receive from 8 to 10 per cent of the gross receipts. As a rule in European cities the franchise is for a limited period and the municipality has the right to acquire the property on payment of actual value. In this way Liege, Belgium, bought out a street railway system and leased it for $57,900 a year with an increase of 1 per cent additional on the gross receipts over a certain amount. The fare on this system is equal to 2 cents of our money.

In this country amounts received from corporations for municipal franchises are less than in Europe, but the principle of compensation is well established. In New York, the street railways are bound to pay 5 per cent of their gross receipts, in addition to car licenses and paving requirements. For the year ending September 30, 1900, the Metropolitan company paid $539,051.49, but it is asserted that the companies do not pay up in full. In Baltimore the franchise charge is 9 per cent of the gross receipts and the city's revenue from this source is about $200,000 a year. There is no large city in the country which receives so little as Pittsburgh. It would be well for councils to cause the subject to be thoroughly investigated so that they will act advisedly in fixing the rate of compensation which the Pittsburgh Railways Company shall pay for the lucrative franchises it desires.

Siam, whose crown prince is traveling in this country, has given fresh evidence of progressive government by the adoption of the gold standard of money. By royal decree the free coinage of silver has been discontinued. Siam has been showing symptoms of an awakening similar to that of Japan for some time, and this monetary movement is a long step toward the prospective establishment of intimate commercial relations with Europe and America.

Just what precipitated action on the money question in Siam cannot be stated, as the cabled announcement is brief. The continued depreciation of silver, no doubt, had its influence, and it is probable the condition of China was even more convincing. Siam borders upon the Flowery Kingdom and cannot avoid seeing the financial distress that threatens its very life. With a huge indemnity to be paid in gold, while its domestic transactions are in silver, that is becoming continually cheaper, China is confronted by bankruptcy, revolution, repudiation and seizure. The kindly offices of the United States have been enlisted to secure an abatement of the heavy indebtedness, but European governments are more prone than our own to Shylock's exaction of the pound of flesh, while the silver standard operates to decrease the Chinese revenues.

Mexico also contemplates a change to the gold standard. The prosperity of this southern neighbor is Bryan's chief argument for the silver standard in his first campaign. That prosperity was due to other causes, of course, principal among them the influx of American capital seeking investment upon a gold basis, on account of the then existing depression in the United States. With the return of prosperity, following rehabilitation of the protective tariff principle and the firm establishment of the gold standard in this country, Mexican investments are less sought after. Mexican commerce with the United States has, however, increased, and Mexico is keenly feeling the disadvantage of having a depreciated currency. Mexican men of affairs are not as incapable of understanding cause and effect as some of our American politicians, so they turn naturally to the adoption of the gold standard as the rational means of escape from the evil that oppresses them.

BURTON'S DESERTION.

Pittsburgh and the Ohio Valley Improvement association and the people of the Ohio valley will feel keen disappointment because of the attitude assumed by Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee of congress. Mr. Burton is in a position of great influence and his apparent hostility to the needed improvement of the Ohio will doubtless effectively block legislation and an adequate appropriation at the coming short session of congress. Something better was expected of him. The state of Ohio, like the Pittsburgh district, is greatly concerned in the navigation of the Ohio river, and because Mr. Burton represents an Ohio constituency his help was counted on to promote the success of the effort to make the river navigable the whole year from its source to its junction with the Mississippi. But the chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, as quoted, declares himself opposed to the project on the score of its alleged cost, which he avers will be $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 to construct a nine-foot channel to Cincinnati, and $100,000,000 or more to carry it as far as Cairo. The matter is not to be disposed of, however, with the presentation of such an off-hand estimate and without suggestion of an alternative.

While Mr. Burton's hostility to the enterprise that is of such vital import to the territory of the Ohio valley makes it certain that little can be done to further it during the few months remaining of the Fifty-seventh congress, the interests concerned will be spurred to greater efforts to obtain a hearing and concessions from the Fifty-eighth congress. An apparent first duty is to try to have the rivers and harbors committee of that body more favorably constituted. With Cannon as speaker there is little to hope for. As chairman of the appropriations committee of congress he has endeavored to make a reputation for economy, and is now more likely to regard the size of an appropriation item than the resulting benefits. It is possibly with the idea that Cannon will be speaker that Mr. Burton announces himself against a nine-foot channel for the Ohio river. Nothing would be more likely to win him the favor of the Illinois man and to insure his retention at the head of his important committee. With Cannon as speaker and Burton as chairman of rivers and harbors, the people of the Ohio valley might as well accept the status of those who are blessed in expecting nothing, "for verily they will not be disappointed."

If the members of the Ohio Valley Improvement association are wise they will be warned now and refuse to believe the claims being made that Cannon has a sure thing, and will at once throw their influence to the side of the Pennsylvania delegation in its effort to have Congressman Dalzell elected speaker. The river interests are large, and if they combine their efforts they may be able to disappoint the hostility that would deny them the improvements that are so important to their prosperity and to the welfare of the industries that are dependent on or that would be benefited by water navigation. The election of Mr. Dalzell to the speakership would insure the appointment of a rivers and harbors committee friendly instead of hostile to river improvement. Mr. Burton has given notice of what is to be expected, and the expectation will be realized unless men of a properly progressive spirit are placed on guard at Washington.

To prevent Ohio river improvement in the near future is not merely a blow at river and industrial interests, as they now exist, but it means a veto upon the natural impetus that will be given to American commerce by the construction of the isthmian canal. The Ohio river improvement is corollary to that vast enterprise. Mr. Burton's estimate upon the cost is unwarrantably high, except upon the assumption that the work is to be prosecuted under the unbusiness-like system that has generally prevailed in river and harbor work. It is at variance with Mr. Burton's opinion when here inspecting the government work upon the rivers. Moreover, the Cleveland gentleman's fear of large expenditures is notably new-born, since he obtained from congress a grant of more than $3,000,000 for the improvement of the local harbor at Cleveland. That extravagance was urged by him without apparent regard for the possible flood of demands from other localities. Ohio river improvement will benefit more tonnage and more productive energy monthly than the Cleveland harbor will serve in a decade. A fair distribution of river and harbor funds is greatly to be desired in the interest of the whole people.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANISM.

In the current issue of the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association there is a lengthy editorial opposing any revision of the Dingley tariff schedules. It quotes disapprovingly a recent editorial of The Gazette and similarly denounces the editorial utterances of the New York Tribune and the Philadelphia Press. The Bulletin strenuously denies that the late election indicated any demand for tariff revision, any indorsement of the reciprocity policy of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, or any favorable opinion of President Roosevelt's suggestion of a permanent tariff commission. The editorial concludes with these words:

> We are tired listening to newspaper and platform declarations in favor of the policy of revising the tariff by its friends. Does not every one who writes or talks in this strain know as well as he knows anything that any revision of the Dingley tariff means a reduction of duties for the benefit of foreigners? The people, the plain people, have not asked for a reduction of the Dingley rates of duty and do not want it, and woe be to the traitrous party management that seriously proposes it. We await the appearance of the president's message.

The trouble with the Bulletin is that it does not keep up with the procession. It has but one idea and a Bourbon quality of rejecting all information. It was just as tired of hearing about revision of the tariff by its friends in 1890 as it is now, though a proper concession at that time would have prevented the Cleveland-Wilson free trade tidal wave that submerged the country in disaster. Suppose that revision does mean reduction. It does not mean reduction of every scale, nor destruction of confidence as another Cleveland regime would. The Bulletin is hardly in as close touch with "the people, the plain people," as the Tribune, Press and Gazette, and does not speak for them by authority. It is not in as close touch with the plain people as William McKinley was when, just before he was stricken down by the assassin's bullet, he plead for a fulfillment of the Republican national platform pledges for reciprocity. It is not in as close touch with popular sentiment as Theodore Roosevelt, who stands where McKinley did, pleading for reciprocity, moderate tariff revision and control of the giant corporations. The Gazette yields nothing to the Bulletin or any one else in sturdy Republicanism, as its old and new readers may testify. Rather, it represents real Republicanism, the party of action and progress, as opposed to the Democratic party of negation and that fossilized sentiment common to minorities of all parties which clings to a thing that has been good after it has outlived its usefulness.

The tariff situation of today resolves itself into a plain question whether it shall be revised upon lines that preserve the Republican principles of protection, including such modification as may be made to the positive advantage of American production through reciprocity treaties, or whether it shall be revised at some future time by the anti-protectionists who precipitated the calamity of 1893. The Bulletin cares no more for the protective principle than The Gazette. The difference being simply that the Bulletin is opposed to making any concession to popular sentiment for that principle, while The Gazette favors a progressive policy in full sympathy with existing conditions. The Bulletin is an apologist for government by the senatorial holdup combination, while The Gazette is an advocate of constitutional popular government by the powers created for that purpose. President Roosevelt is the representative of honest, aggressive Republican opinion, and The Gazette believes in and supports him.

ROOSEVELT ON COMBINATIONS.

President Roosevelt's attitude toward combinations of capital is easily understood, but frequently misstated either for a purpose or because of misconception almost inexcusable. He is not hostile to combinations, though hostile to purposes of combinations that do not coincide with the public good. It is the fashion in some quarters to represent the president as opposing any form of combination of capital, and during the past week the halting and depressed condition of the stock market was ascribed in part to a disposition of speculators and investors to await the annual message to congress, which is expected to deal with trusts and combinations and offer suggestions for their regulation. Any such fear as is thus exploited is entirely unjustifiable. No combination or corporate organization that is not illegal in form or intent has anything to fear from Mr. Roosevelt or any suggestions he may have to make to congress. He frankly stated his position in his first message to that body, and has as frankly stated it many times since in public addresses. The president has now again given concise expression to his views that ought to be reassuring. To the members of the British labor commission, guests of Alfred Mosely, who were presented to him on Wednesday, the president said:

> Naturally, like any man who has anything to do with public affairs, I not only take, but am bound to take the very deepest interest in all the manifold social problems which include as one section of them what we group together as the labor problem. More and more, as our modern industrial progress goes on, there is a tendency to work in federation or combination, both among employers and among employes, in corporations and in unions. Whether you wish them or not, it is idle in my opinion to protest against the inevitable tendency of the times toward both corporation and union. It is worse than folly to take exceptions to either corporation or union as such. The line should be drawn on conduct.

This ought to clear the atmosphere of any suspicion of the president's intentions with regard to combinations organized and operating in a lawful manner. Coming on the eve of his communication to congress it ought to be considered a forecast of what he will say and what he will recommend. The president has no prejudice against quantitative combination. He is not opposed to corporate or other enterprise because of size. He believes on the contrary that combination properly directed and regulated confers inestimable benefits. Assurance of this ought not to be needed, for the president has time after time expressed himself to the whole American people as he expressed himself to the British visitors.

Incidentally it is worth noting that the president of the United States in addressing Mr. Mosely's guests not only asserted his friendliness to proper combinations of capital, but to combinations of labor. He thus discloses himself as the representative of the whole people and not of a class, and thereby also gives proof that he is moved by considerations for the general good.

News via Victoria indicates renewed British activity in the civilization and Christianizing of outlying territories by force. Some South sea islands have been annexed to the empire and several Fiji settlements have been bombarded by a warship by way of avenging indignities or worse to a Christian missionary. The advices are not clear on the point, but it may be presumed the annexed islands are the same that were bombarded, and that they are to have a government in future that will know enough to tolerate proper missionary effort.

In the matter of the reservoir litigation the injunction proceedings in the United States court take natural precedence of the mandamus suit in the county court. The jurisdictions are equal, but by courtesy and by reason of the fact that preliminary injunction may issue forthwith while mandamus may be granted upon full hearing and determination only, the case of the Ohio citizens will be first. This assures the broader exposition of facts before the narrower claim can be pressed.

National guardsmen who may be discharged because of their membership in the organization will have little difficulty in getting new places. But this does not make it any the more creditable or excusable to discharge a man for no other reason than that he has given his services to the state to suppress disorder and maintain the peace. Guardsmen should be rewarded instead of punished.

There is striking similarity of sentiment in the addresses of President Roosevelt and Booker T. Washington in reference to political conditions and the race problem in the south. Truth is found at the bottom of a well, but both of these thinkers have found it and there is singular agreement in their views.

Our next national day will be that for the convening of congress. It will not be a holiday and until the disposition of the hold-up combination appears it cannot be told whether there will be any occasion for further thanksgiving.

THE DAY DREARY, YET GRATEFUL

Dampness of the Air Represses the Outward Gayety of Thanksgiving.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.

Thanksgiving Day passed quietly in this city. The weather was not conducive to ebullient spirits and rampageous action. The day opened gray and drear and it kept up that complexion steadily, except that at intervals it was a little grayer and drearier. The boys in grotesque make-up who wandered about Broadway and Fifth avenue asking for alms for Thanksgiving, according to an old but not very logical custom, looked more forlorn than usual, with splashes of mud on their garish costumes and their faces half washed off by the spitting rain. But it was not a bad Thanksgiving, on the whole. The churches were all well attended in the morning and the responses generally seemed to be uttered in a spirit of true thankfulness, while the sermons were all of that optimistic kind that one looks for on this day. There was not much of a church parade, but, after church, a great many persons walked along Fifth avenue, thankful that the rain had ceased, temporarily at least. In the afternoon gayety broke loose. The dinner hour is more generally in the evening in New York than in Pittsburgh, and thousands of theater-goers went to the matinees after a light luncheon, preparing for a turkey feast on their return home. As for the "continuous" theaters, they opened early in the forenoon and kept going until late at night. There is no rest for the actors in those places, while the audiences never want rest, apparently. Not many persons traveled on the suburban trains and trolley cars, compared with other holidays. It is not pleasant to be crowded in with a lot of damp, steaming humanity, and such a day as this cuts down the receipts for local transportation to an alarming degree. Still, these were only rifts in the lute, which did not disturb the harmony of the day or take one atom of savoriness from the turkey and sweet potatoes set forth on tables in houses of all degrees this evening. It was a jolly Thanksgiving, taking it all the way around.

Thankfulness Even in Prison.

One of the public institutions wherein Thanksgiving was celebrated with feasting and music was the Tombs; not a lively place, as a rule, but it came out strong today. Dinner was at 2 o'clock, and some statistical reporter tells us that there were 500 pounds of chicken, 150 pounds of turkey and 150 mince pies. Among the gentlemen that partook of the feast were William Hooper Young, charged with the murder of Mrs. Pulitzer; Henry Rose, the actor, said to have murdered his wife, and William Tobin, accused of doing to death Capt. Craft in a Chinese restaurant in the Tenderloin. After dinner, which was served in the old part of the prison, where disinfectants are always strong enough to flavor everything in the place, the prisoners were locked in their cells to enjoy a vaudeville entertainment. How it seems to be shut up, so that one cannot get at the actors when they happen to be bad, I do not know, but it must make some of the performers feel safer.

The Charivari Must Go.

That senseless custom of making a newly-married couple as ridiculous and unhappy before they leave their home town as possible, had another illustration in Brooklyn last night. Two young folk, respectable and popular, objected to riding to Manhattan in a carriage flaunting with many-colored ribbons, and tried to get another vehicle. The bridegroom hired several carriages, one after another, but his "friends" bribed the driver of each one to go away, so that the couple had to ride in the berlibboned carriage at last. When they got to the railroad station their train for Florida had departed and the young men who had caused the trouble thought this a greater joke than ever. Perhaps it was, but the bride and bridegroom did not think so, and the former was in tears. The other day a bridegroom flourished a pistol at his tormentors and got peace that way. There is a growing sentiment here that the charivari must go.

Costly Blunder of a Check Man.

It seems probable that a man with a fur overcoat valued at $750 would exercise ordinary care to prevent its loss, and that a cloakroom attendant would not be likely to give it up without being sure that it was the owner claiming it. Yet, the Princess theater management has been sued for $750 because their employe gave the precious coat to the wrong man. The fur-coat man had check 13, and another person put in his old mackintosh on a check numbered 31. The attendant read the mackintosh man's check upside down and handed him the fur coat, the mistake not being discovered until the fur-coat proprietor turned up with his check 13 and wanted his coat. The theater will have to pay for the difference in the price of the garments if they do not catch the mackintosh man, taking the fur-coat man's own valuation.

Jews Advised to Go West.

According to Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, professor of rabbinical literature in the Chicago university, the Russian Jew is your true aristocrat because he has suffered for a principle. He was talking to Russian Jews in the Ghetto when he said this. He also advised his hearers to go west, declaring that New York is narrow in other ways than geographically. If many more Jews settle here, there will not be enough dirt to go around in the New York Ghetto. This, from an orthodox Jew of eminence, is worth noting, and there may be a rush of Russian Jews westward before long; but few people expect it.

A Countess on the Stage.

The Comtesse de Castelvecchio has just been engaged to play the "Marchioness" in Robertson's "Castle," in the new company just formed by George H. Brannan, manager of Mrs. Le Moyne. The comtesse has played many times in Pittsburgh, where she is a great favorite, and the company will most likely appear there in the course of the winter. The comtesse played Poppea in "Quo Vadis" for two seasons, and it is understood she will have a strong part in a new drama as soon as arrangements to produce it have been completed.

And Now Milk Begins to Soar.

With eggs at seven for a quarter, anthracite coal higher than usual and turkeys 25 cents a pound the New York housekeeper feels that she has trouble enough; but now comes something more. The milk exchange has decided to raise the price of milk without raising its specific gravity, and the sad New Yorker will find that his boarding mistress puts less of the "sky blue" in his morning coffee than ever she did.

Booby Prize for John Ruskin.

A group of Thanksgiving merrymakers, including two Pittsburgh men, were laughing and talking in the Waldorf-Astoria corridor this morning when the subject of versifying came up, and each gave an example of farfetched rhyming, either of his own invention or from something he had read. The man who produced the wildest rhyme was to be fined the cigars for the crowd, and each ventured to the utmost, willing to pay for the cigars if he could distinguish himself in the way of rhyme. The "limit" was declared to be a couplet of John Ruskin's, which one of the Pittsburghers let loose on the company, and in which the words, "The play where old Tom Becket is," is made to jingle with "Similar antiquities." As they moved over to the cigar counter one of the party, who represents a big cereal food company, asked the Pittsburgher for Ruskin's address. He wanted to engage the author of "Modern Painters" to write advertising screamers for the "L" cars.

A Case of Unstrung Nerves.

Time was when a New York business man was not to be frightened by threats of personal injury from people who fancied they had some grievance through past transactions. Russell Sage did not flinch very much even when a man discharged a bomb in his private office, wrecking everything in the room except the rugged old financier. J. J. Adams, member of the law firm in whose office the Pittsburgher, Albert Hamilton, was shot to death a few weeks ago, in company with two other men, including the murder, is not of such stern stuff as Uncle Russell, however. He says he has had threatening letters from a certain New Yorker and he has engaged a few detectives as a bodyguard. The tragedy in his office, when Mr. Hamilton and the others were killed, has unstrung his nerves.

Any Chinaman Good Enough to Pay.

All Chinamen seem to look alike to a Bowery jeweler named Simon. The jeweler sold a diamond ring to Ah Sing five years ago and the elusive purchaser disappeared without paying for it. Lately Simon saw a Chinaman, whom he thought he recognized as Ah Sing walking along the Bowery, and collared him immediately without ceremony. The Chinaman insisted that his name was Chung Blog and he did not know Simon. Simon coolly responded that he (Chung) was a good enough Ah Sing for the purpose, and had him served with papers in supplementary proceedings, having obtained a judgment against Ah Shing long ago. A referee has been appointed to take testimony, and his first task will be to find out whether he is examining Ah Sing or Chung Blog.

Renewed Gossip About Patrick Case.

As the time draws near for a hearing in the Albert Patrick case, the question of his guilt is discussed with more or less interest. Frank Jones, the valet, is said to be in California, and there are stories that he has denied to his intimates that he murdered William Marsh Rice. It looks as if things are shaping up to give Patrick a clean bill of moral health, although the astute lawyer, in his cell in the Sing Sing death house, is none too sure of a new trial, if reports are true.

A Thanksgiving Atonement.

Lawrence Murphy, formerly treasurer of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' association, charged with stealing $10,000 of the association's funds, was arraigned in a police court here today. It was rather a sad Thanksgiving for him, but his friends say he is suffering for the sins of others.

One Argument for Matrimony.

When David Loeb, a wine merchant who had spent his half-century of life in single blessedness, was found dead in his kitchen today with a gas tube in his mouth, it was recognized that he had been faithful to his expressed conviction. He believed, with the late Robert Ingersoll, that "When a man's tired of living he has a right to take his own life." Loeb retired from business with a competence two years ago and had become tired of doing nothing. Perhaps matrimony would have answered his purpose as effectively, and not as gruesomely, as self-destruction. That is one feminine opinion expressed this morning in connection with the case.

Thanksgiving Spirit in Court.

All "drunks" at the Tombs police court were discharged this morning. They were a frowsy looking lot, most of them old-timers, and they would have been sent over to Blackwells island on an ordinary day. As it was, the magistrate said to them, "This is Thanksgiving Day. You may go. But remember, tomorrow will not be Thanksgiving Day." Some of them will be back again, no doubt, but it seemed to please them to get off today.

Turkeys Too Few to Go Around.

Forty thousand turkeys were consumed in New York city today, according to official figures in the markets. More turkeys would have been eaten could they have been procured. The trouble seemed to be, not scarcity of money but of birds. Although turkeys were sold last night and this morning at 25 cents a pound, there was a steady demand for them at that price and there were not enough to go around. Still there was plenty to eat in this city, and those who could not get turkeys managed to find substitutes that were fairly satisfactory.

Thanksgiving at Polo Grounds.

There was a general rush to the Polo grounds this afternoon as soon as the weather appeared inclined to brighten up. The game between Columbia and Syracuse did not awaken as much interest as if Yale and Princeton, for instance, had met; but the crowd was large enough to inspire the players to good efforts. Everybody was so glad that the rain had stopped that they did not find fault with anything else. Thanksgiving without football would be like turkey without cranberry sauce, and it does not matter so much what kind of game it is so long as it is football. As a matter of fact, however, the struggle on the gridiron at the Polo grounds this afternoon was well worth anybody's attention. Besides, it was the last game of the season.

"Rebellion" and "Secession."

From the Richmond News.

Mr. B. M. Parham insists, in a communication printed elsewhere, in reopening a very wide and large question, and one of the most important, acrimonious and complicated discussions in the world's history. We have had four years of war over it and men died by the hundreds of thousand on one side of it or the other.

While we can and should hold our own opinions, because our while it determines results does not destroy nor establish principles, it seems somewhat unreasonable to require the people at the north to abandon their ideas and opinions and to accept ours; or while they hold their opinions to refrain from expressing them. Believing as they do, they have the same right to object to our describing the war as "the struggle for independence" as we have to denounce them for calling it "the rebellion." The sensible course is for us to learn, as the people at the north have learned, that each man is entitled to his own opinion on religious and political questions; that a man may hold opinions precisely opposite to ours on such questions and yet deserve our respect and good will, and that intolerance of opposition is as much out of date as the headsman's block and the stake and faggot as political appliances.

PERSONALS.

"I have just come back to Pittsburgh to study the industrial conditions," remarked James Cox, a member of the delegation of British trade workmen who are touring the country with Alfred Mosely. "I expect to spend some time in Pittsburgh, and visit at my leisure all the large industrial plants. Pittsburgh is one of the great industrial centers of the world and cannot be passed over in a day." While here Mr. Cox will be the guest of John Jarrett.

"Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois will be the next speaker, and with votes to spare," said Gen. Charles Dick, while passing through the city last night. "One vote will settle the speakership," he said, "and Mr. Cannon will be elected." Gen. Dick was on his way to Philadelphia and was accompanied by his family. Accompanying him to Pittsburgh was T. C. Reynolds, a well-known Ohio newspaper man and secretary of the Ohio state Republican committee.

An Unkind Cut for Bryan.

From the Boston Transcript.

The "most unkindest cut of all" to Mr. Bryan is the decision of the state of Nebraska to invest $300,000 of its school fund in Massachusetts gold bonds. Times have changed wonderfully in Nebraska and elsewhere since 1896, and Nebraska has changed with them, being now a Republican state that insists on making investments on the gold standard basis.

ALL CREEDS UNITED.

Remarkable Thanksgiving Services Held in Opera House at Detroit. Mayor Maybury Presides.

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—At a union Thanksgiving service in the Detroit opera house today, Rabbi Leo M. Franklin of Temple Bethel, Judge A. J. Murphy of the recorders court, a Roman Catholic, and clergymen of the Episcopal, Congregational, Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Universalist and Presbyterian churches occupied seats on the stage and took active part.

Mayor W. C. Maybury, who is a member of St. Peter's Episcopal church, made an introductory address in which, alluding to the union service, said:

> "In all the ages religious thought has run on parallel lines, sometimes converging and sometimes crossing. We can see the parallel line when in recognition of a common faith we come together this way to give thanks."

POLITICAL DRIFT.

The Washington Post, which is booming Joseph G. Cannon for the speakership by claiming his election is already assured, discusses the matter in this vein: "A few hustling westerners are looking eagerly upon the fat places in the house of representatives organization now held by Republicans from eastern states which have candidates still in the field for the speakership. Mr. Cannon's calling and election are now sure, but two or three of the candidates persist in sticking, probably for some personal advantage they hope to gain in committee assignments. No one has had an intimation from Mr. Cannon that he entertains any such an idea, but the boys in the trenches are murmuring that states like Pennsylvania can't be allowed to keep a candidate for speaker in the field and also pluck one of the biggest patronage plums Mr. Cannon's organization will have to bestow. The matter will probably be adjusted in good season, for the officers of the present house are all popular men and proven by long experience to be fit for their positions. But the hunger for official pap is compelling, and, if the excuse for a smashing of the old state is not taken away, there is no telling what might happen. A wary observer of conditions said before Mr. Payne or Mr. Dalzell jumped into the speakership arena that the New York Republicans were much more interested in retaining their share of the house patronage than they were in pressing their claims for a local candidate for speaker and that the situation in Pennsylvania was identical with that in New York."

Four of the eight members of the house from Kansas are candidates for United States senator. They cannot all win but are likely to give more attention to proceedings at Topeka than at Washington during the coming winter. The latest rumor is that a combination has been formed between Gov. Stanley, Gov.-elect Bailey and Representative Long to elect the speaker of the Kansas house, upon which much in the contest depends. This unusual proceeding on the part of Mr. Bailey is said to be taken in order to avenge the unmerciful drubbing he got two years ago at the hands of Representative Curtis when both were candidates for congress in the same district.

Attention is called to the Kansas and Colorado contests by the Sioux City (Ia.) Journal. "Some hot senatorial fights are probable in the west during the coming legislative sessions. In Kansas, with a large Republican majority, two factions are contesting for the senatorship to succeed Harris—one led by Senator Burton and the other by Gov. Stanley. Congressman Curtis is the candidate of the Burton faction, and

THANKSGIVING ON HORSEBACK

That Is the Way the Roosevelt Family and Guests Spent Part of the Day.

LITTLE FOLK TAKE PART

Festivities Close With a Turkey Dinner---One of the President's Happiest Experiences — The Knoxes Enjoy a Cozy Meal.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.

President Roosevelt said this afternoon to a few of his friends that he had spent one of his happiest days since assuming the responsibility of his office. He gave nearly the whole day to his family and friends.

The White House's guests are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the latter the elder sister of the president, and Theodore Roosevelt Robinson, their son, and John Elliott and James K. Gracie of New York and Robert H. D. Ferguson, one of the president's brothers-in-arms of the Rough Rider regiment.

After a leisurely breakfast, horses were saddled and the whole party, family and guests, with Senator Lodge and John R. Proctor, mounted and set off for the country. Little Ethel, Archie and Theodore were deserted by the elder riders shortly after the start was made. Archie rode his calico pony and wore his buckle leggings and a big sombrero.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt did not forget little Quentin, the baby. He also had his outing, but in a basket phaeton with his little cousin, Master Sheffield Cowles, and the nurse of Quentin, Mrs. Mary Leftwich.

Mrs. Roosevelt several times today expressed regret that Kermit, the second boy, had not been allowed to come home for the family reunion. This young man was not forgotten, however. On Tuesday morning a large basket of good things was sent to Groton. This hamper contained a roast turkey, pies, confectioneries, fruits and all the accessories of a big dormitory spread. A pair of new skates and some books also were added.

The Rough Riders returned to the White House in time for lunch. This was Mrs. Roosevelt's first long ride since her return to the White House. She wore a black riding habit with a derby hat. Luncheon was served at 1:30. At this repast the party was joined by Capt. and Mrs. W. S. Cowles.

Among the interesting events of the day was the presence at the White House of Miss Helen Roosevelt, daughter of J. Roosevelt Roosevelt and her fiance, Theodore Roosevelt Robinson.

The day at the White House ended auspiciously with a family dinner in the state dining room at which every member of the family except Baby Quentin and Kermit occupied a seat at the table. The number of house guests made a long dinner party, and in addition to those the president carved the Thanksgiving dinner for Capt. and Mrs. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Scovill, the latter formerly Miss Vivian Sartoris, granddaughter of Mrs. U. S. Grant. In the evening a number of personal friends of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt were received.

The attorney general and Mrs. Knox had a cozy dinner for five. John G. A. Leishman, American minister to Constantinople, was their only guest. Miss Rebecca Page Knox is visiting friends in New York city, and the second son, Hugh Knox, is traveling abroad. Reed Knox and Philander Knox, Jr., were the only ones of the attorney general's children at home.

Mrs. U. S. Grant, whose feeble health has given anxiety to her friends, today presided at the Thanksgiving dinner at her home. During the afternoon and evening she received a number of callers.

BUNKOING PORTUGAL

Secretary Hay Asks the Governors of Three States to Put Down a Peculiar Fraud.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The governors of Rhode Island, California and Massachusetts have just received a note from Secretary Hay urging them to take active measures to prevent a gigantic system of fraud against the Portuguese government.

The charges are that residents of those states have been impersonating citizens of Portugal and obtaining naturalization papers. These documents are then used to protect persons in whose name they are issued from punishment for any offenses against their native government. Secondly, it is declared that naturalizations have been taken out for miners still resident to Portugal.

The investigation of these frauds was begun by the Portuguese minister at Washington.

FRIENDS TURNED ON HIM.

Because Gardner Would Not Give Them Money, He Was Robbed.

Frank Gardner, an Italian, of Harwood, spent Thanksgiving celebrating with a number of Polish friends, who worked with him in the mines. He bought drinks for them during the day. Last night all of them became intoxicated, and while they were walking in Liberty street near the Union station, they assaulted him and robbed him of $40. One of his Polish friends cut him across the left cheek with a knife from the ear to the point of the chin. They left him in an unconscious condition under the railway station.

At 11 o'clock he was found by some officers at the station and brought to the Central police station in a patrol wagon, where his wound was dressed. He said that his friends became intoxicated and when he refused to give them any money, knocked him down and took all he had.

MINERS GAVE THANKS.

Many Anthracite Workers Left Work to Attend Church.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Thousands of miners remained away from the collieries today in order to give thanks in the churches for the ending of the strike. The operators made an effort to run all the collieries owing to the great demand for coal, but only half were started.

The miners fared well. Their pay days are due for the first half-month, and by getting credit with grocer and butcher they were able to fill their tables with Thanksgiving cheer. Besides giving thanks for the ending of the strike, many offered prayers for the continuance of industrial peace.

FIREPROOFING FACTORIES.

Modern Plants of United States Fireproofing Corporation.

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS

Arranged With Perfect System With Every Facility for Economical Working—Great Demand for Product.

LISBON, O., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—The United States Fireproofing Corporation has recently been making extensive additions and improvements to three of their factories located at Keystone, Coleman and Salineville, O., and as soon as completed they will be the most modern and best equipped plants in the country for the manufacture of fire clay dense and porous hollow tile, hollow blocks, conduits, flue lining, etc.

The corporation purchased the Keystone and Union factories about one year ago and since acquiring possession they have been almost entirely rebuilt under the direction of General Manager Mr. William Weaver. The Keystone factory is located one and one-half miles from Lisbon, at Keystone station, on the Niles and Lisbon branch of the Erie railway, which gives splendid shipping facilities and is in the very center of the richest fire clay and bituminous coal country of Ohio. The Little Beaver river, which runs through the property, furnishes an excellent water supply, and around and about are prosperous farmers.

The plant includes kilns and several two and three-story buildings for engines and boilers, machinery, drying rooms, etc., in addition to a six (6) tunnel drying house, one hundred (100) feet long, each tunnel having a capacity of twenty (20) factory cars of material. All the buildings are painted white and present a very attractive appearance nestled down among the hills with which they are surrounded.

The corporation owns its own coal and clay mines, which are located across the creek from the factory, and are reached by a gravity railroad which permits the fire clay to be delivered direct at the dry pan for crushing without unnecessary handling. A new and substantial double track trestle 365 feet long is about completed. The corporation has practically an unlimited supply of the finest grade of fire clay and is mining a 10-foot vein, which underlies a good working vein of bituminous coal, the coal forming a solid roof to the mine. The mine extends into the hillside about 600 yards, with several side chambers. The clay is mined in the same manner as coal.

The boilers and engines are equal to the capacity of the factory and of first-class make, as is all the other equipment. The corporation is preparing to build additional kilns, for which the stacks have already been erected. Owing to other vast improvements of greater importance this work has been delayed.

In addition to the large tunnel drying capacity, this factory has drying floors in the building, each floor being 60x120 feet and equipped with the steam drying system. New large Mammoth Junior auger machines, made by E. M. Freese & Co., are now being added, which will greatly increase the output. These machines will make all sizes of arch material up to and including 12-inch arch.

The Union factory, also located on the Niles & Lisbon branch of the Erie railway, one and one-half miles beyond the Keystone factory, or three miles from Lisbon, is a much larger factory than the Keystone. Like the Keystone it is in a fertile valley with the railroad on one side and the Little Beaver river on the other. The buildings, which are two and three stories, 80x72 feet, are all new, as is also the machinery. Neat dwelling houses have also been added for the employes. A new 10-tunnel hot air dryer, 100 feet long, has also been recently built. This plant has two large new boilers and a new 200-horse power Buckeye engine, 9-foot dry pans and the largest capacity and most improved style combination auger machines. Two new 9-foot dry pans are being added and a combination upright steam machine to manufacture material up to 36 inches, is in course of erection and will be in operation within a few days.

This plant is operating two fire clay mines in the hill across the creek which are reached by a steel span bridge 350 feet long. One of these mines was opened during the past summer and the coal as well as the fire clay for the factory use is taken from it and hauled direct to the boilers, kilns and dry pans in dump cars by power, and everything is arranged with perfect system and convenience. The corporation owns considerable of the fire clay territory in the immediate vicinity and has options on over 1,000 acres additional, giving them an unlimited source of supply of both coal and fire clay.

The Salineville factory, 16 miles from Lisbon, is used entirely for the manufacture of fireproofing and hollow blocks. Many improvements have been made here also during the summer and the capacity greatly increased. A new power house has been erected and the machinery and kilns, as well as all the buildings, made in first-class shape.

TWO ITALIANS SHOT.

Drunken Carousal at Webster May Result Fatally.

MONESSEN, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Fifteen Italians were celebrating Thanksgiving at Webster, east of here today, by drinking. After being ejected from a hotel one of them pulled a 38-caliber revolver and began firing. Five shots were fired, two of which took effect among the Italians, one of whom was mortally wounded by being shot through the stomach. Another was shot through the shoulder.

A policeman, assisted by John M. Thompson and Matthew Bernarding, placed the man with the gun under arrest. The injured men were brought to Monessen.

AND NOW GEN. NORD STARTS A REVOLUTION

Marching Toward Haiti's Capital With 10,000 Men. Intentions Unknown.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, Nov. 27.—Letters received here from Haiti say there is still considerable excitement in that republic, especially at Gonaives, where Gn. Alexis Nord, the Haitian war minister, is massing a large army with the intention of declaring himself president. It is added that he already has 10,000 men under his command and expects to advance on Port-au-Prince within a fortnigh.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI, Nov. 27.—While the situation here today is calm, serious disturbances were apprehended yesterday in the chamber, which, at the request of the president, was surrounded by government troops. Gen. Alexis Nord, the war minister, recently left Gonaives at the head of 8,000 men for the capital and arrived last night at St. Marc. He can reach Port-au-Prince early next week.

There is no confirmation here of the report that Gen. Nord has the intention of proclaiming himself president; but the rumor is much discussed and the people here are awaiting his arrival with interest.

CAPE HAITIEN, HAITI, Nov. 27.—It is impossible to ascertain the real intentions of Gen. Nord. At present he is marching on Port-au-Prince with about 10,000 men. He declares he is not an aspirant for the presidency, but that he will insist on the election of his candidate for that office. Who is the general's candidate is not known. The press of Cape Haitien is in favor of Gen. Nord.

A fire at St. Marc before Gen. Nord arrived there destroyed 14 houses.

SAN DOMINGO, REPUBLIC OF SANTO DOMINGO, Nov. 27.—The political situation in Santo Domingo has been complicated by revolutionary disturbances which have broken out in the northern part of the republic. The government has taken severe measures to suppress the movement. Many arrests have already been made. Gen. Wos Gil and J. D. Pichardo, a former minister, are prisoners here.

Nothing tones up the system after overwork and worry like Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge. It is a sure strength-giver.

WILL ARBITRATE THE UNION'S STRANGE CASE

John A. Brashear One of Committee to Say if Union Can Stop Premium Pay.

The joint committee of the journeymen machinists' union and the manufacturers has selected an arbitration committee which is to determine if the practice of the Mesta Machine Company in paying its men premiums for extra work is a violation of the working agreement. The manufacturers named W. D. Johnston of the American Lumber and Manufacturing Company, and the journeymen A. O. Ainsworth, who was so active in muddy water politics during the last campaign. These committeemen named Dr. John A. Brashear to complete the committee. A meeting will be held Saturday afternoon.

The arbitration committee will meet with the joint committee of the machinists and manufacturers, members of which will present the case for both sides. The contention of the union is that the practice of the Mesta Machine Company violates the terms of the working agreement, which went into effect July 1 and provided for a wage advance of 5 per cent and a continuance of the working conditions ruling in the various shops.

In their contention the men are standing in the false light of other labor unons, which aim to put all members on the same level, and thus handicap their advancement or the securing of better wages. The Mesta Machine Company has been arguing that this will prove suicidal to its union, as the company is only claiming the right to remunerate better servic with more wages, while at the same time the men who only accomplish what is accepted in any shop as an honest day's wek, or even fall short of it, get the wage, as before. The men contend that this pemium practice will ultimately establish a higher standard as a day's work, but the management of the company holds this to be impossible, as it is not disturbing the pay of the average man and is simply paying the skilled and dexterous more.

The session of the arbitration committee on Saturday, unless delayed, is to reach a final decision on the contentions that day.

CELEBRATION IS OLD-FASHIONED

Pittsburgh Enjoys National Festival to Its Utmost.

WHEELS KEEP TURNING

Busy Hum of Industry Furnishes an Undertone of Prosperity, but Men Are Given Time to Enjoy Dinners With Families.

Pittsburgh and her people yesterday celebrated Thanksgiving in the good old-fashioned way. Happiness and good cheer were reflected in every countenance. During the morning and early afternoon the streets and car lines were crowded with throngs hurrying along toward the family feast on the traditional gobbler, with all its enticing side dishes.

In the evening the same crowds were returning home, with faces aglow with the influence of good cheer and comfort among friends and relatives, where neither formality nor strangeness was present to detract from the enjoyment of the occasion.

And yet, through it all, the hum of Pittsburgh's great industries never stopped. The mills were, almost without exception, in operation. The employes were given two or three hours to enjoy the family gatherings, but the sounds of industry, that made yesterday perhaps the most deserving of the name "Thanksgiving Day" in American history, sounded a low undertone to the enjoyment manifest everywhere.

The weather—well, the weather did not count. It is doubtful if a rawer, gloomier, damper day was ever dished out for an occasion of the kind; but the crowds went to football games, theaters and on friendly calls with an oblivion to atmospheric conditions that indicated a desire to be at peace with the world and all that was in it.

It Was Plainly a Holiday.

The downtown district wore a distinctive holiday air. The big stores and office buildings were deserted, and the street throngs were devoid of the bustle and hurry and worry that distinguishes the city's everyday crowds. Pittsburghers are just as far ahead in their capacity for enjoyment as they are in their capacity for work, and that is what the street crowds were bent on yesterday.

The morning was largely given up to the services in the various churches, and throngs hurried along through the gloomy rain and sleet to acquire the traditional hearty appetite that goes with a good conscience.

There was a most humorous variation in the times set in different homes for attacking the big gobbler, the plum pudding, escalloped oysters and other gastronomical dainties, that will tend to make the remainder of the week a season of indigestion.

Many families kept up the rigid observance of the old-fashioned mid-day dinner and postponed it only for a half-hour or an hour, in recognition of the elaborate character of the function. Others temporized still more and enjoyed the delights of anticipation until 3, 4 and even 5 o'clock. Then the evening dinner advocates began to get into action and kept the carving knives busy until about 9:30 o'clock.

The Joy of a Fine Appetite.

One well-known young Pittsburgher, who was unable to get to his New England home for the annual festival, had an invitation to dinners at 1, 5 and 8 o'clock. He kept them all, and was still able to tell his story at the club last night. If he lives through today he will be heralded as a trencherman par excellence, for every one of his hosts was a lover of good cheer, and he was compelled to display a more than passing interest in the cooking of all three housewives.

There were, too, the usual sad incidents of such a day. The poverty-stricken homes, where no big gobbler graced the center of the table, and cranberry sauce and plum pudding were subjects tabooed. But they were few, very few. The golden glow of national prosperity was seen in Pittsburgh perhaps more than in any other city, and cases of want were rare.

For those whose families were not large enough to warrant the elaborate preparations necessary for a real Thanksgiving feast the hotels and restaurants provided a wealth of good things. The hostelries, some of which are famous the land over for their Thanksgiving dinners, held up their reputations, and many small families and single men and women enjoyed their hospitality.

And those fresh young country boys and girls, who have come to Pittsburgh to fight life's battle. How they did swarm back to farm and town. Every train was crowded with them. North, south, east and west they went, many of them making a two days' journey just to foregather with family and friends for a few brief hours.

While scions of Pittsburgh's wealthiest families were galloping to the hounds from the Country club yesterday, these hearty young fellows were tramping over field and hedge row, listening to the music of the dogs, chasing the frisky cotton-tail or watching a favorite setter stand a covey of birds in some wooded nook.

ART WINDOW FOR SKIBO FROM ROYAL COLLEGE

With Historical Figures Who Once Tenanted Castle, It Shows Carnegie's Birthplace.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A special cable from London to the Evening Journal says: A huge stained glass window for Skibo castle, Andrew Carnegie's place in Scotland, has just been finished at the Royal College of Art.

It is composed of 50 lights. In the center is a figure of St. Gilbert, who made Skibo his palace in 1235. That to the left represents Sigurd and the date 946, when he built the castle. To the right appears the duke of Montrose, who was entrapped in the castle in 1650.

The figures are flanked by views of Skibo castle and the cottage in which Mr. Carnegie was born. Above the cottage is a picture of the sailing vessel in which Mr. Carnegie, as a penniless boy, took passage to the United States, while below is a representation of the great liner which brought him back to Scotland after he had made his vast fortune.

The window was designed by Prof. Gerald Moira.

Society

PROBABLY more dinners were given yesterday in Pittsburgh than on any other day in the whole year. Yet with few exceptions they were all informal affairs, and the guests included the members of family connections, the sons and daughters, and grandchildren, who went home for the Thanksgiving Day dinner. Formal entertaining was discarded for the day, and in the evening there was the theater, the art gallery or an informal musicale for those who wished to go out, while many stayed at home receiving callers who dropped in for a holiday greeting.

Duquesne Garden was the Mecca for the young people, and though no large parties were given yesterday, many of the younger girls and men in prominent social circles were to be seen skating during both the afternoon and the evening. During the morning there was a large crowd at the Country club to watch the cross-country ride. After the breakfast many returned to the city. At the Brighton Country club a large subscription dance was given for the members, and a couple of hundred men and women, including the younger set, were in attendance. The dance was the first of four subscription dances to be given this winter at the club house. Golf at the Pittsburgh Golf club and at the Highland Golf club drew many enthusiasts to both those clubs, and there was a good following over the course.

CHURCH FUNERAL FOR J. M. FAHNESTOCK

Many Friends of Sheriff-Elect Will Be Permitted to Attend Last Services.

In order to accommodate the thousands of personal friends of J. M. Fahnestock, the sheriff-elect of Allegheny county who died at Mt. Clemens from a second attack of pneumonia brought on by exposure in the recent campaign, the funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Christ Protestant Episcopal church, Erie street and Union avenue, Allegheny. The interment will take place in Allegheny cemetery.

It was decided at first to hold services at his home, 606 Arch street, Allegheny, but so many friends in the two cities having expressed a desire to attend, it was found impossible to accommodate them at the residence. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Homer A. Flint, The Rev. Meach, pastor of the church, being absent from the city.

Mr. Fahnestock's body arrived in Pittsburgh at 8:30 yesterday morning, accompanied by Dr. J. K. McCance, Mrs. S. L. McBride and Adolph Frey.

Shortly after is was placed in the house, friends commenced to call a steady stream passing in and out of the house all day. Mr. Fahnestock was probably one of the most admired men in the two cities and counted his personal friends by the thousands. It is said that no more popular candidate for a political office was ever placed on a ticket in Allegheny county. Floral tributes came from all parts of the two cities. Among the handsomest pieces were a floral wreath of roses from B. S. Lew and an immense basket of chrysanthemums from E. B. Good and William German, of the sheriff's office. T. S. and E. M. Bigelow sent handsome set pieces, and many others were received from personal friends.

The pall bearers selected are S. F. O'Leary, Charles Gibbs Carter, J. J. O'Leary, George W. McBride, A. F. O'Leary and J. Murray Fahnestock, all nephews of the decedent. The family has been prevailed upon to permit any who wish to attend the services.

BETTER THAN TURKEY.

Helen Gould Gives Each Employe Stove, Kerosene and Provisions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Miss Helen Gould's employes on her estate at Tarrytown did not enjoy their usual turkey dinner today, unless they bought birds themselves. Miss Gould made a new departure this year, and in place of a turkey gave each employe a barrel of kerosene, an oil stove, a barrel of potatoes, a barrel of flour and a quantity of bacon.

Owing to the high price of coal the employes were well pleased with the substitution.

Orchestra Concert Tonight.

The program Mr. Herbert has arranged for tonight, contains three orchestral numbers of distinction, a splendid Schumann symphony, some new music by the French composer Godard and two numbers by Moszkowski, from his "Boabdil" ballet music. The soloist is Mr. Campanari. He is in fine voice and his Pittsburgh appearance may be accounted an event. The list in full is as follows:

Symphony No. 2 in C major.....Schumann
Aria, "Le Villi".....Puccini
Suite, "Jocelyn".....Godard
Aria (Credo) from "Othello".....Verdi
Ballet music, "Boabdil," Moorish rhapsody, Malaguena.....Moszkowski

RAGING, STEAMING FLOOD.

Fresh from La Soufriere, It Sweeps Down a River Bed, Spreading Mode Destruction.

KINGSTON, ST. VINCENT, Nov. 27.—Yesterday's eruption of La Soufriere occurred at the head of the dry river Rabacca, where huge quantities of volcanic deposits had blocked the water course since the eruptions last May in spite of the subsequent heavy rainfall.

After the eruption of yesterday a raging, steaming torrent flowed from the base of La Soufriere and swept down the Rabacca, completing the destruction of the sugar works there. Sand at the same time fell upon Georgetown and other places.

Sardinians' Voyage Delayed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Allan state line steamer Sardinian, which sailed today for Glasgow, was obliged to return and anchor off Tompkinsville, L. I., owing to her machinery being deranged. She will repair and proceed tomorrow.

GOLDEN GATE TOURS.

Under the Personally-Conducted System of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

California and the Pacific coast resorts have become so popular in recent years with the better class of winter rest and pleasure seekers that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to run two Golden Gate tours this winter, one to include the famous Mardi Gras spectacle at New Orleans. On the going trip both tours will travel by the Golden Gate special, one of the finest trains that crosses the continent. One tour will return by this train, while passengers by the other and later tour will use regular trains returning. In California, passengers will be entirely at their own pleasure in the matter of itinerary. Should a sufficiently large number of passengers desire to join in taking an itinerary suggested by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the services of a tourist agent and chaperon will be at their disposal.

The first tour will leave New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh and other points on Thursday, January 29, and will travel via Chicago, Kansas City and El Paso to Los Angeles and San Diego, arriving at the latter point February 2. An entire month may be devoted to visiting California resorts, the Golden Gate special leaving San Francisco on the return trip Tuesday, March 3, and returning via Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Colorado Springs and Denver. The rate for this tour will be $295 from Pittsburgh, covering all expenses of railroad transportation, including side trips in California, as well as berth and meals on the Golden Gate special going and returning. No hotel expenses in California are included. Tickets are good for return trip for nine months, excepting that passengers who do not return on the special must provide their own Pullman accommodations and meals eastbound.

Tour No. 2 will leave Tuesday, February 10, by the Golden Gate special. Cincinnati, Montgomery and Mobile will be visited en route to New Orleans, where the party will stay during the Mardi Gras festivities. The train will be sidetracked for occupancy during the three days spent in New Orleans. Stops will also be made at Beaumont, Tex., Houston, Tex., San Antonio, and El Paso. The train will arrive at San Diego February 28. So far as special train arrangements are concerned, this tour will be completed at San Diego. Passengers may dispose of their time in California as they see fit. Should a sufficient number desire to take a suggested trip through California, the services of a tourist agent and chaperon will be placed at their disposal.

The rate for this tour will be $270 from Pittsburgh, covering all railroad transportation for the entire trip, including side trips in California, seat at the Mardi Gras festival and Pullman berth and all meals on the Golden Gate special from New York until arrival at San Diego.

Private compartments, i. e., drawing rooms or state rooms, may be obtained by the payment of additional charges on both tours. A detailed itinerary is in course of preparation, giving all information concerning these tours. Application should be made to George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia, Pa.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Pretty Frocks for Juveniles.

The Russian blouse, fastened well over to one side, is made quite long for older girls, reaching half-way between skirt length and belt, giving the effect of a double skirt. They are designed with box plait or side plaits to match skirts, or broad tucks simulating plaits. Contrasting bands of cloth edged with narrow braid in double rows, showing two colors, generally black and white, with gilt or silver set on in straight lines or conventional design, form the trimming down the side of blouse, belt and cuffs.

A novelty is to embellish the flat bands with simple handwork, such as feather or briar-stitching to hold the bands in place, or fancy French knots between rows of machine-stitching. Cross-stitch embroidery in a set design is also very pretty. Long-waisted effects still prevail and belts of white or black patent leather.

Smaller children wear these suits in one piece, blouse and skirt attached in the sailor style, and the one-sided Russian effect carried out in one piece down the whole skirt length. The extremely long waist is strapped at intervals to permit of belt passing through, which, when held in place and properly adjusted at the child's waist line, will cause the upper part of the frock to form the blouse.

To Economize With Eggs.

Left-over yolks of eggs if put at once into a tumbler of cold water will keep fresh and soft for several days. If dropped into a cup and covered the yolks would be unfit for use the second day. The left-over whites of eggs may be used for meringues. The whites of two eggs with a quarter of a pound of sugar and the same quantity of almond paste will make two dozen macaroons. Where hard-boiled yolks are wanted it is much better to break the eggs, separate carefully the yolks from the whites and drop the yolks into water that is boiling hot; cook slowly for 20 minutes. In this way the whites are saved for another purpose.

Chinese Joan of Arc.

A most remarkable Chinese woman is a passenger aboard the America Maru. She is a very young woman of 18 or 19 years, of excellent family. About two years ago, when the Chinese statesman Yung Lu is said to have attempted to overthrow the emperor, this young woman appeared before the mob in a park in Shanghai and in a speech described as of impassioned eloquence she so wrought on the crowd as to largely have saved the day for the emperor, as it is believed. Her name is Miss Sie Kin King. In company with two Chinese young men of good family, Wong Chien Tsu and Tom Ba Kwai, she is on her way to enter the University of California.—Hawaiian Star.

New Evening Gowns High Necked.

A notable feature of the evening gowns is that the majority have the stock collars instead of being decollete. This is explained by the statement that women are realizing only the girl with good curves, a fine back and graceful neck should wear the low-cut corsage. And as the perfect figure is extremely rare, the decollete creation is disappearing.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Mrs. H. A. R. writes: "Will you please give directions for making oysters frizzled?"

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan over the fire; allow three well beaten eggs and a cup of bread crumbs to every pint of oysters; mix the eggs and cracker crumbs together and turn into the saucepan; then turn in the oysters and the strained liquor; add a pinch of salt and two or three dashes of pepper. Shake the pan briskly over the fire and turn the contents over, allowing them to cook until the eggs are done and oysters plump; then serve very hot with nice crisp celery.

Chicken Pancake.

Take two cups of finely chopped cold chicken, season to taste with salt and pepper and add two tablespoonfuls tomato catsup. Heat to boiling point one cup each of water and cold chicken gravy and thicken with a tablespoonful each of flour and butter rubbed together. Let it boil up and then add the chicken and set where it will keep very hot.

Make a batter by beating two eggs until light, mix with one and one-half cups of sweet milk, two full cups of flour, a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Quickly fry pancakes of the desired size, a light brown color. Spread some of the chicken mixture over them, fold once and keep hot until others are ready for serving; or else make a large cake that can be cut in three portions and serve two at a time.

'Tis a foolish woman who neglects her own family because she's entertaining company. The advent of the Christmas stocks is not causing us to relax one iota the persistent pushing of regular goods. TRUST FUNDS.

It is often a great worry to know just how to safely and profitably invest money left in trust for others.

Investments that hold out great promise in the way of profits many times lack the element of safety that should always be of greatest importance. It is for this reason that thousands of dollars of trust funds find their way to the Peoples Savings Bank, Pittsburgh, where safety is certain and where 4 per cent interest, compounded twice a year, represents a very considerable profit. This bank accepts deposits in any amount, either in person or by mail. Booklet will be sent free if you mention this paper.

RAILROAD MEN DID EAT TURKEY

Work in the General Offices Not So Strenuous as Anticipated.

CLERKS TOOK RELAYS

Freight Movement Becomes Once More Easy—Normal Movement of Trains—Unusual Flood of Immigrants for the West.

In spite of all the dubious forebodings and prophecies to the contrary, the big majority of the railway employes who sit at desks in the Pittsburgh terminals managed to get in a very enjoyable Thanksgiving. Their fears that the entire clerical force would have to abandon the customary practice of dining at home on turkey proved in a measure groundless. The hundreds of birds that annually find their way to the favorite employes from points in the country suffered the same disastrous fate as in former years. A very blue minority, who occupy positions that cannot be vacated, were on duty in the afternoon, much to their disgust, for their companions who had been mustered into service in the morning had been dismissed at or before noon, so that the offices were practically vacant after that hour.

Out on the lines the condition of affairs was much less strenuous than was anticipated. This was due, according to some of the officials, to the splendid service that the men have given the last two weeks, working overtime, Sundays, and all the time in a tremendous effort to wipe out the stigma that attached to the freight congestion situation in Pittsburgh.

They Deserved Their Turkey.

A holiday in sight may have been an added incentive to the employes, at least the officials took it in that light, and wherever consistent with the good of the service they granted the employes a chance to spend Thanksgiving at home.

Although the efforts to relieve the freight situation are not being relaxed, it was stated at all the terminals that the amount of freight moved yesterday was not above the normal, judging that by the movement of the last few weeks. No special effort was made to take advantage of the holiday and make a record breaking move, as on last Sunday. On the Pennsylvania lines about the usual number of crews was working. At Pitcairn and Conemaugh a large amount of freight was moved, but this has been going on for two weeks and occasioned no comment among railroad men. In general the freight situation is much relieved and employes from the highest to the lowest are rejoicing over the break in their troubles. One official remarked yesterday, "We can actually see through the yards now in several places." Another ventured the remark, "When you see an engine and a caboose floating down here empty you can make up your mind that there is a big easing up in the main yards."

At the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie terminal it was stated that the yards were all cleared up, and that there was no blockade on the road. The movement of freight the last few days has been very satisfactory, and by Sunday it is thought the road will be prepared to handle a surplus of tonnage.

Situation Decidedly Easy.

"By tomorrow morning," one official said, "there will not be more than enough cars in our yards to load the northbound engines which go out daily to return with the southbound trains. Many of the locals and yard engines were off today, but we had about the usual number of road men on duty." In the freight offices it was a general holiday.

Passenger traffic on all the roads was reported nearly normal, and on some of the western lines it was considerably above the average for Thanksgiving. The excursions of football enthusiasts constituted the only feature in the situation. The Panhandle brought in two trainloads to the Washington-Jefferson game, and a big special train left Wednesday night for Princeton, to return this morning. To and from local points the travel was unusually heavy, a fact that caused many onlookers to remark on the prosperity prevalent in the Pittsburgh district.

At the Union station the center of interest all day was the big delegation of immigrants that was brought in from New York, 14 carloads of them, and personal luggage enough to fill a long train of baggage coaches. They stood about in groups or poured into the waiting rooms, balancing enormous bundles of bedding and clothing or pulling dozens of little red-faced tots about with them. The immigrant superintendent and his assistants had a busy day before they got the motley crowd sorted and started again for their destinations. Most of the foreigners were Italians, although there was a good sprinkling of Swedes and a few Germans. About 150 of them were bound for Chicago, 100 for Indianapolis and points west, and the remainder for Cleveland and points on the Ft. Wayne.

NEW THEATER RUMORS.

Two Sites in Penn Avenue, Near Sixth, Said to Be Under Consideration.

A rumor started in theatrical circles yesterday that R. M. Gulick of the Bijou had secured deeds for a valuable site for a new theater, which he would erect in the spring. Mr. Gulick last night said that there is nothing definite in the matter and refused to talk further.

It was later learned that two plots are under consideration for a theater in Penn avenue. One of the plots adjoins the Hotel Anderson, owned by the Simpson heirs, Mrs. David McCargo and the Brown heirs. This property has a frontage of about 110 feet in Penn avenue, with a depth of 112 feet.

The other site is just east of Barkers alley, but a theatrical manager who attempted to purchase the property 10 years ago said last night that it was unsuited for the needs of today.

BULLET IN A WINDOW.

Narrow Escape from Death by Mrs. George W. Merriman.

Mrs. George W. Merriman of No. 1300 Coal street, Wilkinsburgh, had an exciting experience yesterday. Mrs. Bennett, her next-door neighbor, was trying to speak to her from her home, but Mrs. Merriman could not hear what she said.

Reaching forward to raise a window, Mrs. Merriman was startled by the report of a rifle, and a ball came whizzing by her head, cutting a hole through the window glass and imbedding itself in the kitchen wall. A diligent search failed to reveal the identity of the man who did the shooting or for what purpose the shot was fired, although it is supposed to have been fired by some person on the hill overlooking the Merriman residence.

COAL SHIPMENT WAS HAMPERED

Sinking of Loaded Barges by Swift Current Blocked Harbor Work.

2,800,000 BUSHELS OUT

Dilworth Coal Company a Heavy Loser—All Tows Made Up in Ohio River—More Coal to Be Taken Out Today.

The movement of coal yesterday from the Pittsburgh harbor amounted to 2,800,000 bushels. Much more remains to be taken out today.

The shipment of coal was much delayed by a serious accident which occurred to a fleet of coal owned by the Dilworth Coal Company. The strong current in the Monongahela river tore the fleet loose from its fastening at the South Thirteenth street landing of the company Wednesday night at 11 o'clock, and seven of the 12 barges which broke loose were sunk in the harbor.

One of the sunken barges is in the river just abreast of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati Packet line wharfboat, another is lying in front of the "Yellow" wharfboat, two are sunk in the river near the foot of Liberty street and the others are above Smithfield street bridge. Efforts will be made to raise the barges, just as soon as possible.

The positions of the sunken craft made it impossible for boats to make up their tows in the Pittsburgh harbor and the towboats had to go below the Point bridge to do this work. It was also difficult for boats coming out of the pools with coal tows to get by the sunken craft and great precaution had to be used, necessitating the handling of small tows. The Monongahela river reached a stage of 9.8 feet of water in the Pittsburgh harbor and was falling last night.

The towboat Ranger, Capt. J. A. Clow, was the first towboat to depart yesterday. This boat is owned by the coal combination and was formerly the John W. Alles. The Alles exploded her boilers last winter, killing several of the crew of the boat. The vessel was then rebuilt.

The following boats went out yesterday with tows:

LAKE SWALLOWS UP STEAMER AND CREW

Southwest Gale Comes Up on Lake Erie and Vessel Springs Leak

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DETROIT, MICH., Nov. 27.—In a furious southwest gale on Lake Erie Sunday night the steamer Sylvanus J. Macy sprung a leak off Fort Burwell, Ont., and plunged to the bottom, probably carrying her entire crew with her. The barge Mabel Wilson, which was being towed by the Macy, broke away from the steamer in the darkness and succeeded in sailing up the lake to Amherstburg, where she arrived this afternoon.

The Macy, with the Wilson in tow, left Buffalo last Saturday with a cargo of coal. When half way up Lake Erie the gale was encountered and when abreast of Port Burwell the tow line of the barge was thrown off by the crew of the Macy, leaving the schooner to shift for herself. If the crew had time to leave their ship before the plunge to the bottom it is not believed that the small boats could have lived long in the terrible sea running.

The Macy was one of the older type of wooden steamers. She registered 752 tons. She was built in 1881.

DAVIS WANTED TURKEY.

Took 35-Pound Gobbler, but Police Caught Him.

"Everybody was going to have turkey and I wanted some, too," were the words of Harry Davis, colored, who was arrested yesterday morning for stealing a 35-pound gobbler from the store of Jesse Moore at No. 432 Third avenue and brought before Supt. of Police John McAleese.

"Well, you won't get any turkey here, so you are no better off than when you stole the gobbler," replied Supt. McAleese. Davis was taken to a cell. He was walking by the store early yesterday morning, snatched the large turkey and ran down Third avenue. He was overtaken by Officer Simon Francis and taken to the Central police station with the gobbler, which was returned to the commission merchant. Davis is 35 years old and lives in Shores alley.

Man Injured.

SALTS[illegible], PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Smith Templeton, an aged resident of this place, met with an accident that may result fatally. He was bringing a bull to town and had tied it to the wagon bed. On Main street the animal tore the wagon bed off, throwing Mr. Ttempleton to the ground, breaking his leg and cutting his head. All efforts to corral the bull failed and he was finally shot.

LOADED TROLLEY CAR UPSETS AT FULL SPEED

One Man Is Killed and Over Fifty Passengers Are Injured.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LANSDALE, PA., Nov. 27.—A trolley car on the Philadelphia & Lehigh Valley Traction Company's line upset while rounding a curve this afternoon at Hatfield. The car carried over 75 persons and was in charge of Motorman John Esser and Conductor William Sell of Souderton. At the time of the accident the car was running at full speed. The motorman was unable to check the speed of the car.

Wallace Crouthamel of Perkasie was killed and Joseph Detwiler of Souderton was so seriously injured that he will probably die. More than 50 of the passengers were injured.

The injured were taken into neighboring houses and physicians summoned. Among the passengers on the car were the members of the football team of the Perkasie High school. They intended to play the Lansdale team this afternoon. Young Crouthamel, who was killed, was a member of the Perkasie team. The game was declared off.

RESCUED FROM A MOB.

Officer Fights Through Crowd and Saves Detective by Arresting Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Firing shot after shot from a revolver, John McCormick, a private detective in the employment of Wood's detective agency, chased a United States sailor along Sands street, Brooklyn, this afternoon and ended the pursuit by being locked up in a police cell after having been threatened with lynching by an infuriated mob.

Just as the mobbing was about to begin D. F. McLaughlin, a police detective, came along in a trolley car. He fought through the crowd, beat back the leaders and placed the private detective under arrest for promiscuous shooting.

COUNTRY CLUB IS PURCHASING THE GROUND IT OCCUPIES

Home of the Pittsburgh Country Club.

The Pittsburgh Country club will buy its grounds on the Beechwood boulevard for about $240,000. After the purchase of the property extensive improvements will be made, and when the elaborate plans have been worked out the club will have one of the finest suburban establishments in the country.

It is proposed to buy a tract of land adjacent to the clubhouse approximating 80 acres. The purchase price is said to be $3,000 an acre. A land company will be organized to buy the acreage and the club will secure the lease at a moderate rate of interest for a long term.

This part of the Country club's plan for improvements will be concluded before the close of the year. The project for the rebuilding of the clubhouse will then be taken up and the grounds will be laid out by a landscape gardener. A new stable will be added and fine quarters for automobilists will be included in the scheme of improvements. The Hunt club will be amply looked after, and new kennels and paddocks will be erected near the main driveway.

The natural beauty of the landscape will be carefully preserved and the strip of woodland lying within the limits of the property will be fitted up with pavilions, swings and rustic seats to provide an ideal playground for children. The historic stone house, now occupied as a grill room, will be religiously restored to its primeval state. The stone cottage is one of the oldest buildings in Pittsburgh, having been erected in 1800, when the district now traversed by the boulevard was a wilderness.

When the property was leased, about eight years ago, the old Phillips mansion was included and since has been used as a clubhouse. The club has 500 members, including many of the wealthiest and most prominent people of Pittsburgh. A. M. Jenkinson, president of the club, is a member of the committee in charge of the improvements, and has been active in his efforts to procure the organization a permanent home. Mr. Jenkinson could not be seen last night, but it was authoritatively stated that all arrangements for the closing of the deal have been made.

DECISION FOR TOY, BUT BADLY WHIPPED

Nominal Winner in Serious Condition — Mason and McClelland Arrested.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., Nov. 28.—After the referee had decided the McClelland-Toy fight in favor of Toy, the nominal winner, Toy was taken seriously ill and two doctors are working on him now.

Police officials have held Mason, manager of McClelland, and McClelland, to see how Toy comes out. It is quite strange to see the winner in this condition while the man the referee decided against is walking around without a mark and is being cheered by crowds who follow him on the streets.

McClelland and his manager will leave for home just as soon as the police see if Toy is out of danger.

Mason, after the decision was declared against McClelland, was wild, called the referee names and called off the two matches McClelland had here, one with a $1,500 guarantee. McClelland will go to Jackson, Mich., and meet Ole Olesen on December 10.

After Sharpe had given his decision the crowd rose as a man and cheered McClelland and hissed Sharpe.

McClelland did most of the forcing throughout the battle and seemed to have Toy shaky in the last round.

Steady leads for the face and jaw on the part of Toy and persistent boring in to work at close range by McClelland is the complete story of the bout. Toy landed repeatedly with his left jabs, shaking McClelland up at several stages, but at no time having the Pittsburgh boxer worried. McClelland landed less frequently, but when he did his blows seemed more effective.

Toy's blocking at close range was beautiful and many of the rounds were in his favor on points alone, but McClelland had all the better of the closing rounds and was the stronger at the end.

McClelland never ceased his boring-in tactics for a moment, despite all the leads he received in the face, and the bout closed with Jack forcing matters and having Toy hanging on to keep himself up. At that, Toy got back with two or three hard hooks, which could be heard all over the house.

McClelland played for the body and that his blows hurt could readily be seen from the manner in which Toy squirmed and wriggled in clinches.

The half ended with the ball in Emsworth's possession in the center of the field. Score, Emsworth 6, Pastimes 0.

In the second half Pastime made first down three times and were forced to kick. Emsworth advanced the ball to Pastimes' 10-yard line. ERIE H. S. WON CHAMPIONSHIP.

Bradford Defeated in Final Game of Interscholastic League.

ERIE, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The Erie High School football team won from Bradford High School in a hotly contested game here today. This gives Erie the championship of the inter-scholastic league of Northwestern Pennsylvania, having won successively from Titusville, Warren, Franklin and Bradford. Today's final score was 12 to 6. It is the first time an opponent has crossed Erie's goal line in the Inter-scholastic league series.

Anglun scored for Bradford by securing the ball from an Erie man during a scrimmage and running 75 yards for a touchdown. Erie scored by straight football. The Bradford team had the advantage of weight and twice during the second half nearly tied the score by carrying the ball to the five-yard line, where they surrendered each time on downs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Columbia's football team played a tie game today with Syracuse at the polo grounds, the final score being 6 to 6. RAILROAD WORK ON LARGE LINES

Local Features of the Betterments by the Pennsylvania Company.

NEW PANHANDLE TRACKS

Millions to Be Spent Between Pittsburgh and Steubenville. Double Track on the Chartiers Branch—Officials Come Home.

First Vice President James McCrea of the Pennsylvania lines west and other Pittsburgh directors of the Pennsylvania company and the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company (the Panhandle) returned yesterday from Philadelphia, where appropriations amounting to $9,000,000 were made for improvements on the lines west and much of which will be of far-reaching importance to Pittsburgh. Improvement work was authorized which will require over two years to complete. All of it will directly or indirectly facilitate the movement of trains through Pittsburgh.

On the northwest system alone the Ft. Wayne and the other lines composing this group $6,000,000 is to be expended. Probably most important of this work to Pittsburgh is to be the vast extensions to the already large yards at Conway and Aliance and other terminal points on the system. Under this appropriation the entire western division of the Ft. Wayne is to be double-tracked, as is a large part of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh line.

In the Panhandle Territory.

For improvements on the Panhandle system an outlay of about $2,000,000 is arranged. Included is one piece of work which looks forward to new importance of the Chartiers branch, otherwise the Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny. This branch, the main line of which extends from Carnegie to Washington, is to be double-tracked at a cost of $500,000. This line is now double-tracked for the distance of about 10 miles south of Carnegie to Boyce station.

Surveys have been made and it is the purpose of the Pennsylvania interests to convert the Washington & Waynesburg line from narrow-gauge tracks to standard-gauge. With this completed the vast industrial development that is going on in Washington and Greene counties will ultimately call for a new low grade on to the Ohio river. However, the Washington & Waynesburg improvement and those contemplated beyond there are not covered in the appropriations. The extension of the New Cumberland branch along the lower shore of the Ohio river, which has been going on gradually for years, to a point opposite Rochester, where connection with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is intended, is another matter not covered in the authorized work in the new appropriations, but this work will continue to go forward gradually.

Laying Additional Tracks.

Along the Panhandle the extensive three and four-track work that is under way is to be pushed till a large portion of the line is of three and four tracks between Pittsburgh and Steubenville, O. Under the present appropriation of about $2,000,000 for the Panhandle long new stretches of three and four-track work between Pittsburgh and Steubenville will be contracted for, as well as considerable second track work west of Columbus.

Vice President McCrea said yesterday that no action was taken at Philadelphia looking toward the erection of a line from Lawrence Junction, on the Ft. Wayne, to Red Bank, the western terminal of the low-grade division of the Allegheny Valley. He remarked that this project has been talked of for 30 years. It is understood that recently new surveys were made, but no definite decision to go ahead with the work has been reached. Such a line would be an important freight link between the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west and the eastern lines and for through freight would avoid the haul through a maze of extensive yards in the trip through Pittsburgh.

Only Waiting on Councils.

Asked if there were any developments in the plan of the Brilliant cut off from Fifth avenue station to the West Penn division near Guyasuta station, Mr. McCrea said that the Pennsylvania is ready to go ahead with the work if councils will pass a satisfactory ordinance. The circumstances are the same in reference to the abandonment of the Liberty avenue freight track, and the elevated line along Duquesne way to connect with enlarged freight facilities and warehouses at the Point.

For work on the Pennsylvania along the Pennsylvania main line east contracts have been placed aggregating $3,500,000. This includes a new bridge 2,250 feet long across the Susquehanna river, the contract for which was awarded to H. B. Kerbaugh, incorporated, the contractor of much of the new Pennsylvania work about Pittsburgh and the Union station terminals. Two large classification yards are to be built opposite Harrisburg and 12 miles of double and triple track is to be built. A cut-off is to be built from just below Marysville, on the Northern Central, where the new stone bridge crosses the Susquehanna, on west through the heavy hills between Harrisburg, Columbus and Gap station.

FACTS TO BE LAID BEFORE CARNEGIE

Council Committee Will Meet the Steel Master at New York.

TO SUBMIT PARK SITE

Move Is Intended to Offset Opposition of Objectors—Donor Will Be Apprised of Situation Before Arrival in Pittsburgh.

Soon after Andrew Carnegie steps off the steamer at New York, in about two weeks, he will be met by representatives of Pittsburgh councils, who will lay before him the proposition to build the Carnegie technical school on the Schenley park site. This step has been decided upon because of the statements that pressure is being brought to bear, both on Mrs. Schenley and Mr. Carnegie, to prejudice them against the park site.

A prominent member of councils says that he was informed that certain parties had written to Mrs. Schenley, asking her to withhold her consent to the use of the park site for the technical school. It is believed that the same persons have either communicated with Mr. Carnegie or will attempt to do so soon after he arrives in New York.

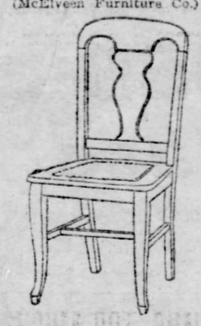
In order to offset any move in this direction, the council leaders are laying their plans to gain an audience with Mr. Carnegie before he arrives in Pittsburgh.

The parties to whom will be delegated the task of seeing Mr. Carnegie have not been definitely decided upon, but one of them is likely to be Councilman William H. Stevenson, who is a member of the site committee. It is likely that Prof. Brashear will also be one of the committee.

It was reported that Mr. Carnegie called upon Mrs. Schenley in London to discuss the Schenley park site, but William McConway, the leading advocate of the hillside site in Bellefield, says that he takes no stock in this report.

No further plans regarding the proposed addition to the Carnegie library can be submitted to Mr. Carnegie when he comes to Pittsburgh, as the appeals of the owners of the Mawhinney street property are before the state supreme court and will not be acted upon by that tribunal before January.

McELVEEN'S
(McElveen Furniture Co.)



Dining Room Furniture

You would marvel at the number of Dining Room Chairs sold in the course of a year. Probably you would wish to know what was done with them all. The reason why so many are demanded is that there are more persons who have pride in their homes than formerly. Dining Chairs which were good enough a few years ago are mostly out of date now. Hence, the impulse given to the sale of newer and better styles.

Of course, the tendency to more attractive furniture finds fullest expression where most furniture is sold, and as this is the largest furniture house in the world, persons who wish the BEST invariably come here to supply their furniture wants.

The Chairs, Sideboards, Buffets and all other dining room requisites constitute one of the most important departments here.

And, as customers often say, price is consistently moderate at

The Greatest Sale of Ladies' Tailored Suits Ever Held in Pittsburg.

A bold assertion but a positive fact. After you have seen the Suits we are quite sure you will agree with us. Itemizing in a newspaper is all well enough, but it is not nearly so convincing as a personal inspection. You must see these Suits in order to fully realize how great the saving to customers really is.

The sale begins this morning promptly at 8 o'clock. It is the result of two causes. First, our Suit selling for the past two months has been the greatest in the history of the house, and as a natural result there are a great many fine Suits of which only one or two still remain, and rather than carry a stock of broken sizes we make the prices so low that any women will be well repaid for the bit of additional time it takes to make a selection. Second, our buyer while in New York was fortunate enough to find a great many handsome and fine model Suits, and also quite a number of samples, which were bought at the unusual discount of one-half off and will, of course, be sold the same way.

They are from the leading makers of man-tailored Suits, and we consider ourselves very fortunate in securing them at the price.

The styles are too varied to admit of detailed description, but a general idea is conveyed by saying there are fine smooth and rough cheviots, broadcloths, zibelines, Scotch cheviots, tweeds, flecked mixtures, and many other materials in such colors as black, brown, gray, blue, tan, fancy men's-wear effects and Irish suitings. As for the styles the jackets are modeled in blouse, Kitchener, Eton, Prince Charles, hipseam, fly front and long box effects. Every new model for Skirts is represented, from the plain 5 gored to the very extreme flare pleated idea.

Under ordinary conditions the prices would be fully one-fourth to one-half greater than we now ask for these fine Suits. Some idea of our startlingly low prices, and the originals, are given in the following:

$10 for Dress and Walking Suits sold formerly up to $15. Cheviots, meltons, mixtures and other excellent dress matrials, black, brown, blue, gray, etc. Every one this season's style, and your choice of almost any model. At the original price they were the best values ever seen in Pittsburgh.

$13.50 for Dress and Walking Suits—a day or so ago the price $16.50 and up to $20. Almost all the stylish models used this season are represented. The style of the jacket is correct; the trimmings are correct in every way. This offer is something very remarkable for women who have all along wanted first-class run-about Suits. All arranged on one rack for easy choosing in the 2d floor Suit Department today.

$16 for Dress and Walking Suits, never sold formerly for less than $20 and many at $22. An exceptionally good range of cloths and models in this group. About 30 fine novelty Jacket Suits of excellent Scotch men's-wear mixtures in combinations of gray, brown, green and blue. Walking length. A wide range of dress lengths in cheviots, venetians and several other cloths.

$19 for Dress and Walking Suits, our regular $25 and $30 goods. An unusual price for us to quote, but it represents an unusual occasion. In this collection, while sizes are much broken, you will find some of the best values we have ever offered at the original prices named. Any material or style you fancy can be found after a few minutes.

$24 for Dress and Walking Suits, our $35 grades. For the most part silk lined costume effects, in broadcloth, cheviot and fancy mixtures. Elaborately trimmed with fine braids, galloons, piping and other effects. Blouse, fly, tight-fitting and Norfolk and hip seam Coats. Skirts fashioned after newest models.

$27 for Dress and Walking Suits, instead of $35 and $40, the original prices. No need to say this is the best group shown in this sale. We could become enthusiastic in speaking of these, but prefer to have you pass upon them yourself. All we will say is that a great many of these represent makers' models reproduced from foreign designs, and are up to the highest standard obtainable. All cloths—all colors—all styles—and all sizes of one style or another.

DRAWN BATTLE BETWEEN STARS AND THE ATHLETICS

PENNSY GOT VICTORY BY A SINGLE POINT

AMERICAN LEAGUE PEOPLE FEEL SURE OF A FRANCHISE

NEITHER TEAM COULD SCORE

The Stars and Athletics Fought a Hard Game to a Standstill.

TROUBLE OVER CASH

Four thousand people passed Thanksgiving afternoon at the Colosseum watching the Pittsburgh Stars and Philadelphia Athletics struggle on a gridiron that was inches deep with mud. The two elevens pushed and tugged at each other for 55 minutes of actual playing time, and when the umpire's whistle had announced the end of the time limit, neither team had succeeded in making a score.

This contest was scheduled to start at 2:30 but it was fully an hour later before the teams faced each other. The cause of this delay was a financial tangle, and for a time it looked as though there would be no contest at all. To start out with, Connie Mack, who is managing the Athletics, insisted that he should have $2,000 in cash in hands before he would allow his players to trot to the field. This was the amount guaranteed, and Connie said it must be cash or else the word of some responsible business man that the aforesaid amount would be paid. There was a conference between Managers Mack and Barry and a compromise might be reached when a new trouble arose.

There Was More Trouble.

The last trouble came in the shape of an attachment of the receipts at the instigation of W. A. Temple, who wanted to collect cash enough to cover the rent for the park for the season. Mr. Temple was the lessee of the park, securing the lease from Barney Dreyfuss. It was his intention to run the baseball team this season, but a press of business prevented this, and when Manager Berry undertook the job the lease of the park was turned over to him with certain conditions attached, one of which was that the Wash.-Jeff. team was not to be allowed to play there. It is asserted that the attachment was also intended in the interest of the players of the team, who are alleged to be back in their salaries.

While these matters were being discussed by the managers of the elevens, the crowd became impatient and called loudly for play. Game umpired and called loudly for play. This cry was finally heeded. Mack agreeing to accept Berry's word that the $2,000 guarantee would be paid and the Philadelphia eleven then took to the field, which was a muddy one indeed. There were places where the mud was almost ankle deep, and down near the east goal posts there was a pool of water deep enough to give a player a good ducking in. The air was raw and cold, and while it suited the players it chilled the spectators to the bone.

Looked Like Mud Men.

The game had not progressed five minutes before every player wore a thick coating of mud, and were it not condition that their own parents would have trouble in recognizing them. On almost every down the players would stop to dig the mud out of their mouths, eyes and ears and Trainer Davy Sheehan had to enlarge his corps of assistants and arm each one with a sponge. This sponge brigade was kept busy washing the mud from the faces of the players.

Notwithstanding the ground conditions, the contest proved a grand struggle from start to finish between teams that were about as evenly matched as it would be possible to find. The first half showed the Pittsburgh Stars to have a shade the best of things, as they kept the ball in Philadelphia's territory nearly all the playing time, and on one occasion worked it to the 15-yard line only to lose it on an unfortunate fumble. On another occasion the locals worked the ball to the Quakers' 20-yard line, and a score looked certain, but the Philadelphians took a hand and held for downs.

The order of things was reversed in the second half when the visitors became the aggressors and kept the locals working might and main to prevent a score. The field was so slippery that kicking was out of the question, and the only ones made were by John Cammons, who is one of the most popular players who ever wore Pittsburgh colors. When Gammons first appeared on the field he was given an enthusiastic welcome, and he returned the compliment by making a number of very pretty runs.

The Start of the Game.

The visitors won the toss and defended the east goal. Richardson kicked off for Pittsburgh and twice sent the oval over the line. The first time the ball touched an Athletic player and there was quite a dispute as to whether it was a play or not. Referee Farrar declared it was not in play, and that settled all discussion. In this half the visitors worked a tandem tackle play, which was quite a ground gainer, but towards the end of the first half the locals solved this play and stopped the ground gaining.

The second half was the one in which there was desperate football work, each team striving for a score to win a game. At one stage Arthur Poe brought out enthusiastic cheers when he emerged from the crowd with the ball and run over the goal line with it, but the referee called him back, claiming he had stolen the ball. Another play that brought cheers was by Gammons; after being tackled he passed the ball to Poe, who made a 30-yard run before being downed, but the referee again brought the ball back, claiming the ball was down before being passed to Poe.

On three different occasions in the second half the Quakers were within striking distance of the locals' goal, and each time tried for a goal from field, but each one was missed. The first attempt was from the 35-yard line, and the third from the 25-yard line. The first attempt was blocked but the referee claimed the locals were offside and the ball was given to the eleven five yards. Then the second attempt was made, but it was a failure.

Had Heart Palpitation.

The visitors' third attempt at a goal from field was the one that gave the Pittsburgh team's supporters palpitation of the heart. The ball did not go anywhere near the goal posts, but Gammons, who was playing back, made a fumble and Bender fell on the ball on Pittsburgh's 5-yard line. There was only five seconds of playing time left, and the Athletics lined up for a determined effort at a score. The signal was given for the tandem tackle play, which had proved such a ground gainer early in the game. The ball was passed to Capt. Davidson, who started head first for the Stars' line. There was a loud crash like unto a head-on collision between fast freights, and when the players became untangled it was found Davidson had not gained but two yards. The referee's whistle then announced the end of the game. The score and line up:

Pittsburgh—0.		Athletics—0.

THEY WILL MEET AGAIN.

Pittsburgh Stars and Philadelphia Athletics Will Do Battle at Colosseum Tomorrow.

The Pittsburgh Stars and Philadelphia Athletics will meet again tomorrow on the Colosseum gridiron and endeavor to settle the much-disputed question of superiority.

After yesterday's nothing-nothing game, when it was found the players on both elevens had come through the hard struggle without injury, the managers got together and talked over another game. The teams have met twice now, the Athletics winning in Philadelphia by a score of 11 to 10, and the Pittsburghers are anxious to wipe out that defeat.

Manager Mack after consulting his players agreed to the game, and each club Richardson at once took his players to Greensburg, where they will rest up today and be ready for a warm battle tomorrow.

Polka Dots Finished Well.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The Polka Dots, the champion 100-pound team of Western Pennsylvania, finished the season today by defeating the Mt. Pleasant High school team 34 to 5. The Polka Dots went through the season without a defeat, and the five points scored against them today were the only ones of the season.

WASH.-JEFF. WINS FROM EAST END

College Eleven Closed Season With Well-Earned Victory.

ECKLES WAS STAR

The Washington and Jefferson football team closed its season yesterday afternoon by defeating the eleven representing the East End Athletic association at Friendship park in one of the most fiercely contested games of football witnessed on a Pittsburgh gridiron for years. The final score was 6 to 2 and not until the last minute of play was the contest decided.

Contrary to all expectations the game was a clean one from start to finish and great credit is due to the members of the East End team for the gentlemanly game they played. Not a player of either side was ruled out of the contest and but one substitution on each side was made during the game.

Sadly humming the words, "How Bad I Feel, How Bad I Feel," to the tune of the popular hymn "O Happy Day," 10 of the members of the East End eleven filed out of the grounds after the contest. There was one member of the team missing. He proved to be Elmer Musselman, the little quarter-back of the East Enders, who was unable to get beyond the side lines for several minutes.

Wept at Defeat.

With a large white blue-necked sweater encircling his head and breast Musselman was weeping as though his heart would break in the arms of a friend. The emotion shown at defeat brought out the greatest sympathy from the crowd and as the little quarter joined his squad later he was cheered.

A shivering crowd of fully 3,000 persons witnessed the game. About one-half of this number came from Washington on special trains and the rooting for the red and black team reminded Pittsburghers of the other games Washington and Jefferson was accustomed to play with the All-Star Pittsburgh eleven on Thanksgiving Day in former years.

A section of the main grand stand had been reserved for the East End rooters and they were out in force, waving small banners of former Pittsburgh Athletic colors and trying to cheer their team on to victory. The number of women who attended the game was surprising and it is estimated that at least 800 of the fair sex rooted for their respective favorites.

Weather Was Chilly.

The weather was not ideal for football by any means. A chilling wind swept the gridiron all afternoon and at times small flakes of snow fell. In order to keep warm the great crowd had to stand most of the time. The field was in fair shape considering the heavy rains of the past few days. Several long runs were cut off by players slipping in the mud and it was difficult for the college team to stop their opponents many times on account of East End's heavy line.

At the game yesterday another star shone more brightly above the others in the college eleven. He is Eckles, the right halfback of the Washington team. There was never a moment during the entire 50 minutes' play Eckles was not in the game. He plunged through the East End line at will. Advanced the ball almost every time he was called on to do so and twice saved Washington and Jefferson's goal line from being crossed by his splendid tackling of Red Nagle after the latter player had gotten away from every other player on the college team.

Brooks' Fine Work.

The playing of Brooks at quarter for the Washington and Jefferson team was also a feature of the contest. The little fellow hails from Allegheny. He has played substitute all year, until the last few games, and he worked in the position yesterday like a veteran. Once when thrown on a hard tackle he had his lip split fairly in two, but pluckily kept in the game to the finish.

There was not a fumble made by either team in the first half of the game, but Washington and Jefferson in the second half seemed to get lost in signals and lost ground a number of times by costly misplays of their backs and linemen, who were called on to take the ball.

It required just 12 minutes after the whistle blew for Washington and Jefferson to rush the ball down over East End's goal line for a score. East End did not come near scoring in the first half, but in the second part of the contest the Pittsburgh eleven looked exceedingly dangerous.

They rushed the pigskin down to the college four-yard line and then lost it on downs. Hayes' attempt into the line for no territory went high and East End lost a chance to score by not falling on the ball. In the last minute of play Cable tried for a place kick from the 20-yard line, but failed and the game was over.

East End Won Toss.

For East End the Willis brothers played fine football all the time. Elmer Wilson put up a gilt-edge game at halfback and the two runs of Red Nagle for 25 and 10 yards around Washington and Jefferson's right end were features of the game.

When Chauncey Bill Stewart tossed the coin in mid-field Capt. Willis successfully called the turn and the East Enders defended the north goal with a stiff wind blowing in their favor. Nagle with his right boot on the ball for 25 yards and Musselman returned it five yards before being downed.

Then East End started their tackle back play and gained through the collegiate line almost at will. Five-yard gains were frequent, but East End stock took a sudden jump when John Willis got away for a nice run of 17 yards around Washington and Jefferson's right end.

Musselman tried his first quarterback kick and Eckles received the leather and ran from the center of the field for a touchdown. The ball was brought back, however, as it was claimed he stepped out of bounds. Murphy, Hayes and Longwell took turns at the East End line and McDivitt plunged through tackle for 10 yards.

Many Penalties Inflicted.

East End players grew too enthusiastic at this stage and several penalties for off-side play were inflicted. Washington and Jefferson rushed the ball down to East End's one-yard line, but Hayes went over for the score

FOLLOWING THE HOUNDS IN ROUGH WEATHER

Annual Thanksgiving Meet of the Country Club's Hunters.

TWO RIDERS TUMBLED

Ground Was Slippery, but Nobody Was Hurt—Handsome Luncheon Served in the Old Fashioned Stone House.

The baying of a score of English fox-hounds yesterday resounded among the bleak hills of the Pittsburgh Country club grounds, while 15 members of the Hunt club rode at their heels, reaping keen sport in the third annual Thanksgiving chase.

It was a scene never to be forgotten by the great throng of Country club members who witnessed the hunt from the high ground surrounding the club house on the Beechwood boulevard. Despite the dreary weather and the slippery condition of the ground, the riders mustered in good number. At 11 o'clock in the morning the hounds were given the drag. Away went the pack down through the old Phillips orchard, into the briery hollow and up the face of the opposite hillside.

The riders, in the regulation hunting costumes, with scarlet coats, followed close after the pack. The three high hurdles in the orchard were quickly cleared, and with a breakneck gallop the hunters dashed off in pursuit of the baying hounds. The Country club course is well known to Pittsburgh riders. Yesterday there were two checks and the ride of six miles was made in an hour.

The riders were: Frank M. Lowry, master of the hounds; W. A. Baird, Haydn Collins, Palmer Collins, E. J. House, R. W. Bissel, P. E. Donner, Geo. M. Laughlin, Jr., Palmer Collins, Miss Edith Flinn, Miss Mary Flinn, Miss Blanche Harper and Miss Ida Fisher, with a huntsman and two whips.

Mr. Lowry rode his favorite, Rapidan, while Miss Mary Flinn was mounted on Big Red, the dean of the Hunt club's stable. Miss Harper showed wonderful skill in handling Diamond Jupiter, and Miss Fisher was equal to all the capers of Reveler. Miss Edith Flinn rode Pendennis. There were two falls, but none of the riders was hurt.

At the close of the hunt luncheon was served in the club house to more than 100 guests. Mrs. Alexander M. Jenkinson poured coffee and Mrs. Frank M. Lowry served tea. In the "Stone House," the quaint old pioneer building on the club grounds, the table was arranged after the picturesque fashion of an old-time hunting lodge. The low-beamed ceilings of the room were decorated with the fruits and long strings of vegetables and forest leaves, and through the center of the room was a long table burdened with all the dainties and substantials of the proverbial Thanksgiving feast. Three mammoth roast turkeys, garnished with wintergreens, were surrounded by dishes containing all the delicacies of fall game markets.

A guest of honor at the luncheon was Mrs. De la Mellaie of Paris, France, who is visiting her brother, E. J. House of Pittsburgh. Mrs. De la Mellaie, who has frequently ridden the hounds in famous cross-country runs abroad, rode around the Country club hurdles during the afternoon.

Few of the members remained at the club house during the afternoon. The golf links were thronged by 18 competitors for the silver cup offered by the greens committee, but the weather was unfavorable and the gallery soon retreated. The trophy was won by J. R. Taylor.

BIG CROWD SAW BENNINGS RACES

The Track Was Rough But There Was Some Great Going.

THE FINISHES CLOSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—An excellent card of seven events, including two steeplechases and a race on the flat for the Washington cup at two and a quarter miles, drew to Bennings today the largest assemblage that ever witnessed a day's racing in this city. The track was very heavy and the going hard.

Most interest centered in the cup race in which over half of the horses entered were scratched. Circus, the outsider, with Black up, won this race in a hard drive from Andy Williams and Carbuncle, the horses that made all the pace. Scratches also reduced the steeplechase for gentlemen riders, leaving only three starters. Stanton was a grand race over the jumps, the three horses not getting three lengths apart until the stretch was reached, where Ivan ran in a close finish.

The Odd on Favorite Won.

The handicap steeplechase was another good race and was captured by the odds-on favorite, Imperialist, after the hardest kind of a brush with Montrip and Draughtsman. Summaries:

First race, for maiden 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs—Guess, 109, Creamer, 1 to 1 and 4 to 5, won; Lucky Dan, 105, Doyle, 40 to 1 and 20 to 1, second; Plantganst, 109, Rice, 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:05 3-5. Merry Sport, Colonsay, Geisha Girl, Alhambra, Lowly, Aunt Delia, Rosewater, Adele Harding, Bassano and Bathbridge also ran.

Second race, for 3-year-olds and upward, 5 furlongs—Brandysmash, 109, Shea, 8 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Grail, 105, Wilkerson, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Brisk, 106, Rice, 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:04 4-5. Petra II., Cornell, Larva, Toddy, Cursey, Euclaire, Gwynne, Bijou, Carroll D., Francois and Gratia also ran.

Third race, steeplechase, gentlemen riders, about 2½ miles—Ivan, 165, Dunnell, 3 to 5, won; Argus, 155, Kerr, 4 to 5, second; Cheval d'Or, 155, Harris, 4 to 1, third. Time, 5:37. Three starters.

THE CHICAGO TEAM BEAT WISCONSIN

A Great Crowd Witnessed the Contest—Only One Touchdown Made.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Chicago outplayed Wisconsin on Marshall field today before a crowd of 8,000 enthusiastic rooters, and won by the score of 11 to 0 in a hard-fought but not brilliant game of football. Chicago made only one touchdown from which a goal was kicked. Ellsworth scored the other five points by a place kick from Wisconsin's 16-yard line.

Honors were about even until the second half, when Driver made a poor punt and Schurur, taking advantage of the shifting of position, broke through tackle and placed the pigskin behind the goal posts after a 16-yard run. Ellsworth kicked goal. Ellsworth tried a place kick for goal from Wisconsin's 27-yard line in the second half, but failed. The rest of the game was routine work.

It was far from being the Wisconsin team of last season that lined up for battle with the Chicago men, whose straight, hard football began to tell from the start. Chicago won the toss and chose the north goal, securing the aid of a cold northwest wind.

When the ball was on Wisconsin's 11-yard line Ellsworth fell back for a place kick and scored it. Wisconsin had the ball and was effectively battering Chicagos line.

Shrur distinguished himself in the second half by scoring the only touchdown of the game, after breaking through tackle and running 16 yards. Ellsworth kicked goal and the score was 11 to 0 in Chicago's favor. During the remainder of the second half Chicago was able to hold Wisconsin. The score and lineup:

TRYING-OUT GOLF GAMES.

Travis' Work Shows Best, but Moorhead of Pittsburgh Qualifies.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Pittsburgh golfers showed up well to the front in the Thanksgiving tournament of the Country club at Lakewood today. This tournament is one of the features of the golfing calender and is looked upon by golfers as a trying-out process for the season's records. This tournament assumes a national importance also from the fact that Walter J. Travis, the amateur champion, and Findley S. Douglass and C. B. Macdonald, former champions, are always to be counted upon in the list of entries.

The qualifying rounds were played today, and from the unusually large field of 112 players, three sets of 16 were sifted out for the semi-finals and finals. The links were heavy after a two days' rain and low scores are out of the question.

Travis won the gold medal for stroke play with a card of 77. The Pittsburgh golfers were John Moorhead, Jr., A. W. Black and Davison Lloyd. Mr. Moorhead returned a cardwhich read 83, going out in 45 and coming home in 48. Mr. Lloyd's card tallied 100, and Mr. Black's card tallied 106. Mr. Moorhead was successful in winning a place in the second set of 16, and tomorrow will play against E. A. Whitney.

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure, and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received, we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmeisler, La Crosse, Wis.: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried, and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends, who have also had the same benefits."

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, N. J.: "I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for six years and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets."

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: "I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend, who also suffered from indigestion, and she had the same good results."

From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: "I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from nervous dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

NEITHER FRANKLIN NOR OIL CITY SCORED

Second Game of Series Hard Fought Before a Crowd of 3,000.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 27.—The second game of the series of three between Franklin and Oil City, to decide the supremacy of the football field in this section, was played here this afternoon in a sea of mud. Neither side scored.

The local team seemed to have the better of the playing, as the ball was in Oil City territory more than in Franklin's. The sloppy condition of the field caused frequent fumbling and the ball was often lost on downs.

Oil City showed more of local talent than in last Saturday's game, but they still had a goodly number of foreign players gathered from Steubenville, Grove City and Pittsburgh.

Three thousand people were present, about 1,500 coming from Oil City, but the betting was very light for the reason that the visiting sports seemed poverty stricken. Lineup:

FAMILY RUNS THROUGH BURNING SANDSTORM

Fleeing From Volcano, They Hold Chairs Over Heads to Keep Off Shower.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MEDIA, PA., Nov. 27.—Mrs. William H. Culley this morning received two letters from her daughter, Mrs. Felix Maldonado, who was supposed to have been lost by the recent eruption of Santa Maria volcano, Guatemala. The letters are dated from Quezalto, where Mrs. Felix and Mrs. Juan Maldonado, another Media girl, are safe for the time with a number of refugees.

She reports passing through terrible hardships and describes the outbreak of the volcano, which started with a sandstorm and broke with terrific crashes of thunder and vivid lightning. Huge rocks fell upon their house until it was crushed, and with their child lashed on the back of an Indian and holding chairs over their heads, they struggled through a rattling sand and mud storm a distance of three miles.

It took them three days to reach the home of Mrs. Juan Maldonado, 10 miles away, and they found her very ill. The sand, which was six feet deep, had crushed in the doors and was so hot that it had to be swept from the roof to keep the dwelling from burning.

Two days later the party left the place, Elintiza, and walked several miles to Quezalt, where they are now stationed.

The other letter reports them with plenty to eat but everything else lost, including the whole plantation, which is covered with a dozen feet of sand and mud.

From where they are now the volcano can be plainly seen in eruption.

Twin City A. C. played a star game against the strong Colonia A. C. of Pittsburgh and defeated them with a score of 23 to 0. On Saturday they play the Sycamores for the 90-pound championship of Western Pennsylvania.

The Franklin Reserves went to Manchester and played the Orient A. C. a no score tie game. With but four minutes left to play a dispute arose over a quarterback kick and the Reserves left the field.

The Carnegie High school won the junior championship of the Chartiers valley from the West End team at Carnegie yesterday, 6 to 0. The West End team was much the heavier, but they were outplayed from start to finish.

The Millvale High school is without games for November 29 and December 6 with 90-pound teams. Address Edward Murphy, No. 107 Ohio street Millvale, Pa. Sewickley High school and Bellevue High school preferred.

RAYEN LOST A CLOSE GAME TO WESTERN R. A.

One Touchdown of Contest Scored on Disputed Decision of Official.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 27.—One of the hottest games ever played on the local gridiron this season was won by Western Reserve academy over Rayen High school, by a score of 6 to 0. The game all but broke up in a row during the second half on account of the decisions of Myers, who was finally removed.

Charges of unfairness were made against Myers during the entire game and the one touchdown was secured when he gave Reserve the ball on an alleged off-side play on Rayen's seven-yard line. Gillmer went through for a touchdown. "Doggy" Gillmer, for Reserves, and Osborne and Wick, for Rayen, made the star plays. The lineup:

Mt. Pleasant Suffers Financially Through Five Games Cancelled at the Last Minute.

MT. PLEASANT, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The game scheduled between the local Tigers and the Emerald A. C. of Pittsburgh did not materialize this afternoon and one of the largest crowds of the season was disappointed. A telegram was received stating that the team had missed the train.

The Mt. Pleasant Juniors were to play the Bethany team, which also failed to come. Two weeks ago the local elevent defeated the Bethany by a big score. Five games have been cancelled on the Mt. Pleasant team this season, and in every case word was sent at the last minute. The games were heavily advertised and as a result the local team has

WILKINSBURG BUILDING NAMED FOR OWNER'S SON

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Employes Have Great Difficulty in Finding Houses at Glenwood. Another Lot Sale at McKeesport.

The seven-story office building which Leopold Vilsack is erecting in Wood street, Wilkinsburg, at a cost of $60,000, is to be called the "Carl" building, after Mr. Vilsack's son, Carl. Until recently the new block has been known only as the "Vilsack" building, but the fact that Mr. Vilsack's office building, No. 6200 Penn avenue, East Liberty, has always been known by that name would, it seems, lead to considerable confusion in the matter of mails and addresses, so that the change of name was deemed necessary. The Carl building is now up to the seventh story and will be ready for occupancy by March 15. It will be not only the best structure of its kind in Wilkinsburg, but will rank very favorably with the larger skyscrapers downtown in its finish and appointments.

Negotiations are now pending for the leasing of the first floor of the building for the Wilkinsburg postoffice, which now occupies quarters elsewhere. It is also learned yesterday that a long lease for that purpose will probably be closed within a few days. Options have been secured on three other whole floors by insurance companies. Over half of the remaining offices have been rented through the East End Savings and Trust Company, formerly the Valley Trust Company, thus proving conclusively that there is a first-class demand for good offices in Wilkinsburg, although pessimistic property holders have long ridiculed the idea of a skyscraper paying in this thriving suburb.

Have to Move Outside "Call" Limit.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad improvements at Glenwood are causing a commotion among the workmen who have lived for years within a stone's throw of the shops and yards. Last week notices were sent to each of the 60 or more families who occupy the 25 houses that the railroad company bought, ordering them to vacate within 20 days. As fast as the houses are vacated they are being torn down to make way for the track extension. But with the majority of the tenants it is a clear case of being turned out of doors, as there are no houses available for them. The men who are employed "on the road" are required by the rules of the company to live within "call" distance, which means between Hazelwood avenue and Allegheny street.

The houses in this section have long since been located for working and the employes are obliged to get special permission to live outside the limit. Although there have been completed within the last 60 days at least 40 houses, it is a matter of the greatest difficulty for the dislodged employes to get even rooms to rent for the winter, in addition to the extra demands of the railroad men, there is a new rush of workmen from the mills directly across the river, the Nesta machine works, the Shiffler & Walker brick works and other mills at West Homestead, whose workmen prefer to cross the Glenwood bridge and live within the city limits. Many of the new houses have been occupied before the mantels were put up and nearly all of them were rented weeks before the roofs were on.

Good Penn Avenue Sale.

Through the agency of Thomas McCaffrey, John Goettman of Goettman Bros., has bought from Thomas Wightman the properties at Nos. 1736-1742 Penn avenue, Tenth ward, for $32,600, or $400 a front foot. The lot, which measures 81½x100 feet, is situated opposite the main entrance to the Pennsylvania produce yards, in Eighteenth street. It is said that Mr. Goettman has in mind the erection of a large store and office building on the lot to supply the demands of the produce merchants who are moving to this vicinity from Liberty avenue.

Tomorrow the Keystone Realty Company will put on the market its Locust Grove plan of lots at McKeesport at a public sale. The plan is situated in the Seventh ward and has a frontage of about 600 feet in Versailles avenue. It also fronts in Stewart and Grandview avenues, and is intersected by Emma, Parker and Craig streets. There are 112 lots in the plan, which average 30x100 feet each. They will be offered for sale on the easy payment plan at prices ranging from $600 upwards. Sidewalks and grading have already been completed and the usual street improvements will be put in soon. A Pittsburgh contractor has already arranged for the building of six frame houses to cost $2,500 each in Parker street. Both the Grandview and the Wilmerding avenue street car lines pass by the property, making it easily reached from any part of the city.

Won in Competition.

In a recent competition, Architects Milligan & Miller of Wilkinsburg were awarded the work of designing the new schoolhouse at Lidgerwood, Pa. The building will contain eight rooms and will cost $25,000. Plans are now being prepared.

Architect U. J. L. Peoples will close bids today on the three-story brick office building of the Monongahela Trust Company at Homestead. The estimated cost is put at $60,000.

The work of improving the Chadwick Place plan of lots in the Twenty-first ward is nearly completed and by January 1 the plan will have all the advantages of the other residence sections of the East End. Within a few weeks Davies & Co., who manage the property, have finished the grading of Joshua, Rugby, Gopher and Oakdale streets, and are now grading Brushton avenue, Gladfield street and the last portion of Lemington avenue. A petition is being circulated to pave Lemington avenue this fall. The sidewalks are now laid over the entire plan and the water and sewer connections have been nearly finished.

Brokers Ate Turkey.

Real estate brokers took the usual Thanksgiving vacation yesterday and few of the offices were open for more than an hour or two in the morning. Although the spirit of the realty market has been of late more subdued than a year ago, there are indications that, with the easing of the money market, a good number of large transactions are to be marked up before the close of the year. The next month, owing to the holiday season, is supposed to be a dull one, but the experience of last December proved that it was one of the best months of the year and many brokers are looking for a similar report this year.

Avalon: J. A. Gibson & Co. sold for Stewart Crost to Joseph W. Smith a buff brick house, lot 40x105 feet, on the west side of Riverview avenue, near Taylor avenue, Avalon, for $4,250. They also sold for Frank R. Russell to N. McDonald a frame house, lot 80x105 feet, in Harrison avenue, near California avenue, Avalon, for $3,600; also for Robert Muirhead to Victor M. Weaver a two-story brick house, lot 20x110 feet, in the west side of Buena Vista street, near Arlington avenue, Second ward, Allegheny, for $3,400.

Squirrel Hill: H. O. Hornberger sold to Mrs. John Cowan lot No. 41 in the Belmare plan, Hazelwood, for $400; also lot No. 57 in the same plan to Marcus T. Schiedis for $300. Both lots are in Bray street and will be improved.

Bluff street: M. J. Ehrenfeld sold to a downtown operator lot 27x105 feet at the corner of Bluff and Van Braam streets for $3,200. The buyer will build an apartment house. The same broker sold an improved lot, 32x100 feet, in Niagara street, near Craft avenue, and a brick house in Rowley street, the consideration for the latter being $1,500.

Sale in Penn Avenue.

Thomas McCaffrey, No. 3509 Butler street, sold for Thomas Wightman to John Goettman of Gettman Bros., the restaurant proprietors in Diamond street, the property located Nos. 1736-38-40-42 Penn avenue, opposite the center of Eighteenth street, Tenth ward. This property consists of a lot 81½x100 feet, with three brick dwellings, and sold for $32,000 cash, or $400 per foot with improvements.

As in the case of the Penn avenue site, the main entrance to the large produce yards on Eighteenth street, at the price it sold for, it is considered by everybody who is acquainted with values in that locality that Mr. Goettman got a bargain.

After January 1 Mr. Goettman proposes to erect on the vacant frontage suitable stores and offices to supply the great demand of the produce men in that locality. These buildings will be erected to suit the tenants, and will be ready for March 15, 1903.

Holiday in Financial Circles.

Thanksgiving Day was a holiday in domestic financial circles. Banks and stock exchanges remained closed and business was generally suspended.

The only interesting news came from abroad in the shape of the weekly bank statements. These fully confirmed the reports of firmer money markets. The governors of the Bank of England did not raise the minimum rate of discount, which remained at 4 per cent, but the bank return was the poorest that has been issued for weeks. It showed an increase of nearly $17,500,000 in loans and a decrease in the reserve from 45.77 per cent last week to 42.65 per cent at the present time, the lowest percentage of reserve reported for a long time.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France showed a gain of about $1,000,000 in gold and an increase in bills discounted of $9,000,000.

Liverpool reported a firm wheat market. Cotton was quiet and unchanged.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Oil operators in the lower southwest fields took advantage of the holiday to suspend operations for a day. The local offices were deserted, and, as a result, the reports from the fields were very light and of little importance. No new strikes of any significance in any fields were received. Southeastern Ohio furnished the most of the new wells.

In the Wilking district, Washington county, Alexander & Landen completed their No. 6 on the Eva Stowe farm and secured a 10-barrel pumper.

In the McIntyre creek development, in Harrison county, the Ann Oil Company has drilled in its No. 3 on the McClelland-Snider farm and has a show for an 18 or 20-barrel producer.

In the same district Davis & Co. have drilled in a test on the Otto Zeady farm and will have a 10 or 12-barrel pumper.

The Plum run district, in Harrison county, and the Island creek development, in Jefferson county, show the greatest activity of any in that part of the state. There are more than 30 wells drilling and starting in the two fields.

West Virginia.

In the "Little Germany" district, Marshall county, the Eclipse Oil Company's No. 6 on the Joseph and Josephine Klug farm, bridged over when given a shot. They succeeded in breaking through the bridge yesterday morning and the well began to flow and produced 65 barrels the first 18 hours. It showed for only 20 barrels a day when first drilled through the sand. The same company is drilling in the sand at its No. 4 on the J. and M. Bashart farm.

The Wheeling Gas Company is due in the sand at a test on the T. Alley farm, and the South Penn Oil Company will be due in a few days at No. 8 on the Henry Mason farm.

The Hope Natural Gas Company is drilling a test in the Eli H. Long farm and the Eclipse Oil Company has started to drill at a second test on the John Bickar farm.

In the Turkeyfoot extention, Hancock county, Murray & Co. have completed and put their No. 23 on the S. Carson farm to pumping and have a five-barrel well.

The Gauges.

On Wolf Pen run, Ritchie county, Snyder & Co.'s Nos. 4 and 5 on the Henshaw farm are holding up at 150 and 100 barrels a day respectively. The Cleveland and Parkersburg Oil Company's Nos. 5 and 7 Thomas E. Dye 150 and 100 barrels respectively. The Associated Producers Company's No. 5 William Clark and Smith, Wilson & Co.'s No. 3, Dora Arnett farm, are each producing 100 barrels a day.

Duster in Butler County.

In the Herman district, Butler county, the Plate Glass Company has drilled its test on the Fred Bowers farm through the fourth sand and has a duster.

INTERESTING COMPARISONS OF NATIONAL BANK RETURNS

Twenty-nine of the 34 national banks have published their statements in The Gazette in response to the call of the comptroller of the currency for a repo t of their condition at the close of business November 25, 1902. Compared with the returns of the same banks the 15th inst. September, some interesting changes may be noted in the two principal items—loans and discounts and total deposits. Last September the banks as a whole were $4,729,689 below the 25 per cent reserve requir ment. Since that date the banks rep rted below have reduced loans and discounts to the extent of $2,578,611, but at the same time they have lost $7,662,183 in deposits. In two or three instances there have been noteworthy gains in total deposits, but these were more than offset by the losses in others. The banks are evidently not in position to extend loans; on the contrary, there is is likely to be a further contraction until the reserves have been restored. Following are the comparisons:

LONDON'S INTEREST IS IN SETTLEMENT

Holiday in United States Helps to Make Day's Market Slow.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Money was in strong demand today and discounts were firmer. Business on the stock exchange chiefly centered on the settlement. The attendance was small. The market was depressed at first, but the feeling grew more cheerful on the announcement that there was no change in the Bank of England's rate of discount and owing to the satisfactory termination of the settlement. Consols weakened, but subsequently recovered. Home rails were dull. Americans were heavy, below parity and hesitating as a result of the holiday in New York, and operations were indifferent; later they hardened somewhat and closed quiet. The liquidation in Grand Trunk was continued. Rio Tintos were dull. Copper was weak and heavy, on bear selling and closed at 49⅜.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Prices on the bourse today made a strong recovery, owing to numerous purchases in various departments and influential support. Kaffirs were in brisk demand and rose substantially in response to London advices. Foreigners were active. At the close prices were very firm. The private rate of discount was nominally 3 per cent.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Prices opened weak on the bourse today owing to unsatisfactory advices from the western bourses. Canadian Pacifics declined sharply. Locals were fairly maintained. Toward the close the market was generally better on more encouraging advices from London.

Bank of England Statement.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve, decreased £90,000; circulation, decreased £15,000; bullion decreased £107,251; other securities, increased £3,482,000; other deposits, increased £1,226,000; public deposits, increased £2,185,000; notes reserve, decreased £56,000; government securities, unchanges. The proportion of the bank of England's reserve to liability is 42.65 per cent. Last week it was 45.77 per cent. Rate of discount unchanged at 4 per cent.

Ten Years' Work on One Channel.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—At the earnest solicitation of the representatives of the commercial interests at New York, army engineers are using their best endeavors to expedite the work on Ambrose channel, in New York harbor, as it is recognized that under existing conditions it will take at least ten years of unimpeded dredging to make the channel navigable for deep ocean-going vessels.

President Gormley Acquitted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—James H. Gormley, president of the Masonic Fraternity Temple association, who has been on trial for conspiracy to defraud the county out of taxes due on the Masonic temple property, was acquitted by the jury at 9 o'clock this morning.

QUOTATIONS REMAIN WITHOUT CHANGE

Wholesale Houses Generally Closed Yesterday—No Primary Markets.

The list of quotations remains the same this morning as reported yesterday, wholesale business houses being closed either whole or part time Thanksgiving Day. Stores, which were open for a few hours in the morning, transacted very little business, and expected little, the object in being present at places of business being principally to look after perishable stocks. An occasional retailer, who found himself out of some particular article, would appear, and make a purchase, but trade was carried on in an exceedingly desultory manner, the holiday quiet pervading transactions. Primary markets east and west were closed, and jobbers in this city made no changes in quotations at all.

It is likely that there will be some adjustment of prices for fresh vegetables today, the list of nominal quotations being the same as that ruled before Thursday, when rigidies were a little stronger than will probably prevail, now that the holiday influence is not here to strengthen the situation. The day's trading will be necessary to determine conditions.

KAISER GIVES RETIRING AMBASSADOR A GOLD MEDAL

German Ruler Receives Mr. White in Farewell Audience.

UPROAR IN REICHSTAG

Motion of the Socialists and Nationalists for a Vote on the Tariff Bill As a Whole Caused Great Disorder.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Emperor William in his farewell audience of Ambassador White today presented him with the gold medal of the empire for science and art, which is given once a year to a person, either a German or a foreigner, who, in the opinion of the government, is best entitled to it. Emperor William said that it was a pleasure to make the presentation. He did so on the recommendation of Chancellor Von Buelow and Foreign Secretary Von Richthoffen. His majesty added that, as a personal remembrance he was having a porcelain vase made at the royal works here for Mr. White.

With Emperor William, when Mr. White handed his majesty President Roosevelt's letter of recall, were Count Von Eulenberg, the grand marshal of the court, and Baron Von Dem Knoesback, the introducer of ambassadors, who drove to the palace with Mr. White in an imperial carriage. The United States flag was raised over the palace as Mr. White approached. Emperor William was very cordial in his reception of the retiring ambassador. His majesty said he appreciated how much Mr. White had done to forward a good understanding between the United States and Germany and added:

"The only thing you have ever done that I do not like is your leaving us."

The emperor alluded laughingly to Mr. Roosevelt's hard luck while bear hunting in the south and begged to be remembered to him personally when Mr. White wrote to the President.

Mr. White mentioned his majesty's speech yesterday at the railroad station at Essen and the emperor, with feeling, said:

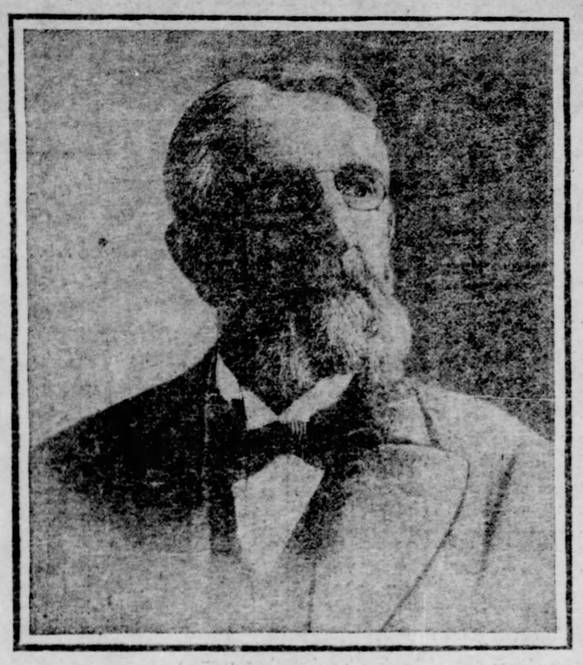
"Herr Krupp spent his life in doing acts of kindness to others and how cruel have been the attacks upon him."

After the audience Mr. and Mrs. White lunched with Emperor William, who kept them with him for two hours. The others at the table were the grand duke of Oldenberg, Prince Henry and Princess Henry of Pless and the newly appointed German military and naval attaches at Washington. The empress was not present, being at Potsdam.

The prince of Pless, who is just back from America, where he represented Emperor William at the opening of the New York chamber of commerce, said: "They gave me an admirable time. I was especially pleased with the beauty of Washington."

His majesty parted from Mr. White with many kind expressions. Etiquette requires that an ambassador shall leave Berlin as soon as convenient after a farewell audience, but Mr. and Mrs. White must remain here to be present at the dinners to be given in their honor by Chancellor Von Buelow on Saturday and Secretary Von Richthofen on Monday.

Mr. White's medal is somewhat larger and thicker than a $20 gold piece. Emperor William's head is in one one side and an emblematical figure with an inscription on the other.



Andrew D. White,
The Retiring American Ambassador, Who Had His Farewell Audience With Emperor William Yesterday and to Whom a Gold Medal Was Presented.

MUCH DISORDER IN GERMAN REICHSTAG

Liberals and Nationalists Insisted on Voting on the Tariff Bill.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Scenes of great uproar and disorder resulted in the reichstag today from a motion introduced by the leaders of the Center, Liberals and Nationals for taking a vote on the tariff as a whole. Baron Kardorff offered the motion, which was greeted with laughter by the Socialists and Radicals, whereupon the baron remarked: "Gentlemen, you have driven us to this course."

The Socialist speakers contended that the motion was contrary to the rules of the house. President von Ballestrom admitted he was in doubt on the question raised and declined to decide on the admissability of the motion, leaving the matter for the house to decide after a full discussion.

During the debate on the rules the Socialists created great disorder. Further discussion was postponed until tomorrow.

BRITISH MAN-OF-WAR SHELLS FIJI VILLAGES

Navy Officers Annex Three Islands for His Majesty.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 27.—According to advices received from Sydney by the steamer Aorangi, his majesty's ship Sparrow has returned from a protracted cruise through the South Sea group. During the cruise the warship's officers annexed Suwarrow, Ysabel and Choiseul Islands for Great Britain.

At Malietoa island five villages of the natives were shelled to punish the islanders for having killed a Fijian woman because she embraced Christianity. With a view to impressing the natives with the seriousness of the crime committed by them, and of warning them against a recurrence of such acts, the Sparrow visited five places in the island of Malietoa, namely, Auki, Sio, Uras, Kwi and Port Diamond, and at each place the villages were shelled and partially destroyed.

The steamer Ventnor, which recently took lumber from this coast to the Orient, foundered near New Zealand, when bound from Wellington to Hongkong with coal and 300 coffins containing the remains of Chinese for re-interment in China. The Aorangi brings news that on October 28 the Ventnor struck the rocks southwest of Mount Egmont, and, being floated, continued her voyage.

Next day she began to fill and soon became unmanageable. All hands took to the boats and had barely time to get clear before the steamer sank. One of the boats, containing the captain, third officer and 11 of the crew, failed to reach shore. Those in the other boats, which made land, say the missing boat was drawn under when the vessel foundered.

The Brinkburn rescued all the schooner's hands when her bows were beneath the water.

LARKIN OUTWITS HIS OPPONENTS

Controller's Diplomacy Brings Reservoir Case First Before Federal Court.

MANDAMUS MUST WAIT

Petition of Mercantile Company Before Common Pleas Court Can Not Be Granted Until U. S. Tribunal Has Acted.

The attorneys for the Mercantile Trust Company, who have been managing the proceedings in the Highland reservoir case, have been outwitted by the lawyers for Controller Larkin.

The controller's attorneys gained the advantage in filing their suit in equity in the United States court in advance of the presentation of the petition for a mandamus against the controller by the other side in the common pleas court of the county.

According to the best legal opinion, the common pleas court will not grant a mandamus after the United States federal court has issued a restraining order, which is expected today. If the common pleas court adopted such a course a conflict of the two courts would follow, a result the judiciary is always anxious to avert.

Larkin Gets First Blood.

Attorneys for the controller scored first by filing their application for an injunction as soon as the controller had refused to pay all the estimates approved by Director McCandless.

The controller had asked for an extension of time until Tuesday, to give his final answer, and in the meantime his attorneys prepared the papers for the equity suit in the United States circuit court.

As soon as the controller refused to pay the estimates for the months following April and the attorneys for the Mercantile company threatened mandamus proceedings, the lawyers for the controller presented their petition in the United States court, while the other side waited for another day to elapse before they started their action.

Federal Court Asks First.

As the matter stands, the controller will be bound to obey the first order of either court served upon him, both courts being of equal authority. The fact that a restraining order, even a temporary order, takes effect immediately, while a mandamus cannot be granted until the controller has had an opportunity to make his answer, throws the case first into the federal court.

If the federal court grants a temporary injunction, legal authorities declare that the county court would not proceed further until the issue is definitely settled by the other tribunal.

This gives the controller an opportunity of getting the reservoir case before the United States court, where it has not been before. In the last mandamus proceeding the county court decided against the controller and the state supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower body, after a very brief hearing.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 27.—A dispatch from Achin, Sumatra, announces that Lieut. Dekok and 45 Dutch troops on board a barge on a river in the interior were recently attacked by a band of Achinese, with the result that the barge sank and the lieutenant and 20 men were drowned.

AMERICANS ABROAD OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

Services for the Day Are Generally Inaugurated in Philippines.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, Nov. 27.—The first general observance of Thanksgiving by the Roman Catholic church in the Philippines took place here today. Bishop Gracia issued a letter, calling attention to the proclamation of President Roosevelt and Gov. Taft, and directing the observance of the American holiday. A solemn high mass was held in the cathedral, the apostolic delegate, Archbishop Guidi, giving his benediction to the worshipers. Gov. Taft any many Americans were present.

The other churches held a united service, Bishop Brent delivering an address and the Rev. George Pentecost reciting the prayer. Gov. Taft and a majority of the American colony also attended this service. In the course of his address, Bishop Brent said he had opposed the United States' assumption of responsibility in the Philippine islands, but he added: "Now we must return and face our duty."

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Three hundred Americans celebrated Thanksgiving by dining together at the Kaiserhof. Retiring Ambassador White, who presided, proposed the healths of the German emperor and President Roosevelt, who, he said, were in many respects alike. Consul General Mason proposed a toast to Ambassador White, and also to Secretary J. B. Jackson, who leaves for Athens in a few days. A telegram of good wishes was sent by the assembly to President Roosevelt.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving was quietly observed here by the American colony. Special services were held in several churches. The Rev. Dr. Thurber, pastor of the American church, said:

"The cause of the world's thanksgiving is that the nations are beginning to completely accept the international arbitration in place of the arbitrament of the sword."

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The American Thanksgiving dinner at the Hotel Cecil tonight was the largest affair of the kind ever planned here, the attendance exceeding 440. The chief speakers were Sir Robert Finlay, Sir Edward Carson, H. H. Asquith, Ambassador Choate, H. Clay Evans and Sir H. W. Norman. Many prominent Englishmen were guests.
